LIGHT TO FLOOD THE CITY MONDAY NIGHT

Brainerd Theatre Amusement Co. Pays for Light That Night, Council and Mayor O. K. Plan

Big Benefit at Brainerd Opera House Monday Night, "Fall of a Nation" to be Given ---30 Piece Orchestra

The Brainerd Theatre Amusement Co. will turn on the street lights in Brainerd.

A benefit performance will be given "For Street Lights in Brainerd," on Monday evening, October 9, at the Brainerd Opera House.

However, Clyde Parker and F. S. Workman of the Brainerd Theatre Amusement Co. reasoned, and rightly too, that you couldn't expect Brainerd people to stumble in the dark streets to the show.

So they got busy, saw mayor and council, and the Brainerd Theatre Amusement Co. will pay for the street lights Monday night so all can walk or motor comfortably to the show.

This letter tells the story:

Brainerd, Minn., Oct. 6th, 1916.
Mr. Wm. Nelson, Secy.,
Water & Light Board, City,

Dear Sir:

The Brainerd Theatre Amusement Co. has proposed to pay for street light service for one night, Monday, Oct. 9th, in connection with their benefit entertainment to procure street lights for the city.

The undersigned members of the Brainerd city council hereby sanction such arrangement, and pledge ourselves to support such proposition; provided said Brainerd Theatre Amusement Co. pays for such service in advance into the water and light fund.

Signed,
R. A. BEISE,
Mayor.

Public spirit is not dead in Brainerd, when unions and theatre company and citizens co-operate.

The "Fall of a Nation," an 8 reel film portraying graphically a story dealing with the origin and destiny of our republic, will be presented, the first time in Central Minnesota.

The scale of seat prices Monday evening will be 50c, 75c and $1. The net proceeds of the entertainment will be placed in the hands of the city council and

"THE STREET LIGHTS WILL BE TURNED ON"

A splendid feature of the massive production of "The Fall of a Nation" will be the orchestral music. A thirty piece orchestra will play. Every union musician is asked to assist, and if the appeal is heeded, the orchestra will number over 40.

"The Fall of a Nation" presents a vital theme, a story of international significance.

A confederation of European powers decides to seize North America and annex it to Europe. A secret army of the foreign-born is raised in New York. As the greatest city of the North American States has few armed defenders, it is an easy task to capture it overnight.

Meanwhile 150,000 trained troops, fresh from the European wars, are rapidly transported across the Atlantic with all their equipment of great guns, poison gases, liquid fire and bombs. Effecting a landing, they easily vanquish the small North American army, join the foreign-born conquerors of New York, and march to Washington where they depose the president and put in his place the "Imperial Viceroy of the Provinces of North America."

While the locale of the story is in and near New York, its momentous lesson applies to any country unprepared to meet the foreign foe. At

Ball Player Declares for President Wilson

(By United Press)

New York, Oct. 7.—At democratic headquarters it was announced that Rube Marquard, Brooklyn pitcher slated for world series work, has declared for Wilson. He said he was just as sure that Wilson would be elected as he was that Brooklyn would win the series.

Infield Players of the Boston American Baseball Team

The infield of the Boston American League club is expected to line up for the world series as follows: Hoblitzel, first base; Barry or Janvrin, second base; Scott, shortstop, and Gardner, third base. Gardner may play in some of the games against left-hand pitchers, but Hoblitzel will play as long as Bill Carrigan, manager of the club, can keep him in the lineup. Barry's condition is not officially known and at this writing the club had not committed itself as to whether or not he or Janvrin would occupy second base.

What the Rival Managers Said

(By United Press)

Boston, Oct. 7.—Just before the first game of the world's series, these statements were secured from the rival managers:

Manager Carrigan, of Boston: "I have faith in the ability of my men. They have been through the fire, and their experience will help them in critical times. Our pitching and fielding staff will carry us through."

Manager Robinson, of Brooklyn: "I do not want to make any predictions as to the outcome. My boys have never taken part in a world series as a team, but Marquard, Coombs, Merkle, Meyers are veterans and steady players. In trying points our pitching will offset Boston hitting."

Fans Ready for Opening Game

BY HAMILTON,

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Boston, Oct. 7.—The Boston Red Sox and Brooklyn, champions of the American and National leagues, will meet this afternoon in the opening game of the world's series as a climax to the greatest baseball season in the history of the game.

The finely drawn finish of the races has aroused unprecedented interest in the approaching games. Not until the last weeks of the campaign in each league did the winners of the pennants feel sure they would go into the title clashes.

The Red Sox have had an easier windup than their rivals, for their season ended first and their pennant was clinched sooner. Consequently the American leaguers who will bear the strain of the all-important games have had a better chance to rest from their grinding drive. Recruits have worked in most of their recent games, leaving the regulars to look on and regain some of the energy and strength expended in the neck and neck dash down the stretch and under the wire.

As usual in a world's series, this morning found the long line of waiting fans at the baseball park.

Newspapers, crumpled and mused in the streets, soap boxes turned on end, and the remains of "hot dog" sandwiches gave evidence of the long night watch of some.

Several days ago the national commission directed all clubs having a chance at the pennant to have tickets printed and to make arrangements for their distribution. The local club owners had blanks printed on which their customers might make their applications for seats.

Out in a hotel near the baseball park the Brooklyn Dodgers spent the night. Early this morning they were up and discussing methods to be used against their rivals in the opening game. They had a short workout on their rivals' field, getting the lay of the ground and finding the light and dark spots on the stands and bleachers. Drafts, too, from under the

(By United Press)
Boston, Oct. 7.—Boston won the first game from Brooklyn in the world's series this afternoon, but only by an eye-lash.

The Red Sox finished up on the long end of the 6 to 5 score, but the remarkable ninth inning of the Dodgers, coupled with the weakening of Shore in the box for Boston and an error by Janvrin nearly defeated the world's champions.

For four innings Shore and Marquard engaged in as pretty a pitchers battle as seen on the Braves' field for some time.

A crowd of upwards 40,000 sat spellbound as the rival pitchers fought it out.

Marquard was the first to crack, but Shore got his in the ninth when Carl Mays released him.

Pfeffer acted as relief worker for Rube.

The game was remarkable for its lack of enthusiasm. A handful of loyal Brooklynites whooped it up in the ninth inning, but otherwise the cheering was lacking. In former years thousands of rooters had cheered and paraded on the field.

The spectators this afternoon simply got up and went home.

The band paraded once around the field, but practically alone and then gave up the job.

Fred Merkle had a chance to become a great hero in the ninth inning, but failed dismally. He came up in the ninth inning, with the bases full, one out and the count stood three balls, two strikes. The interest of the crowd was tense, then Merkle walked and forced a run.

The game will rank with any world's series contest on account of the number of extra base hits made. Wheat and Meyers, for the Dodgers, each connected with triples.

Walker and Hoblitzel, of the Red Sox, also drew three-ply swats and Hooper and Janvrin smashed out doubles.

Jake Daubert, touted as a sure leader, was a flivver on hitting. He reached first base once and that was on balls.

Young Walker, of the Red Sox, brought here to fill Speaker's shoes, did it. He tripled in the first inning and drove in a run in the fifth with a single.

Ball Fans Crowd Boston Hotels

Boston, Oct. 7.—Great crowds are thronging the hotel lobbies for a place to sleep, but they are overflowed. One hotel is considering renting Pullmans. Many wagers are being made ten to six that Brooklyn will win the series.

JAPAN'S OPEN DOOR POLICY TO CONTINUE

St. Paul, Oct. 7.—"The open door policy in China will be maintained," Aimato Sato, the new Japanese ambassador to the United States, declared emphatically in an interview here.

"The new Russo-Japanese agreement aims only to keep in status quo
the trade situation in China," he explained. "Japanese capital is making demands on China for investment; it is offered in the same spirit in which the United States offers money for investment."

"The Japanese and the Americans are friends. We seek no naval station in Mexico—those stories are found only in imagination."

"Japan has agreed to America's virtual exclusion policy against Japanese and I have no instructions relative to re-opening the question at present."

CHINESE ENVOY MUST RETAIN JOB

Peking, Oct. 7.—President Li Yuan-
Hung has cabled Dr. V. K. Wellinton Koo, Chinese minister to the United States, refusing to accept his resignation from that post, declaring in the message that the preservation of friendly relations between the United States and China now is of the greatest importance and that Dr. Koo's services are indispensable. He is urged to reconsider the matter. Peking advices on Sept. 28 stated that Dr. Koo's resignation as minister to the United States had been received at the Chinese foreign office and that it had not been accepted. Ill health was given as the reason for the resignation.

NEW YORK MILK FIRMS TO PAY HIGHER PRICE

New York, Oct. 7.—Representatives of milk distributing companies handling virtually the entire supply of the city except that dispensed by the Borden, Sheffield farms and Mutual-McBarnett companies agreed to meet the demands of the Dairymen's league for an increased price and six months' contracts, under certain conditions. It was explained that the dealers in making contracts with farmers agreed to take all the milk produced and felt the producers should share their loss on the part that could not be sold.

To adjust future relations between the dealers and the distributors a committee of 11 to 8 was proposed.

DRY FORCES SAID TO PLAN NEW PARTY

Chicago, Oct. 7.—Information is given in a public statement issued here by the publicity department of the Prohibition party that preliminary steps have been taken during the last thirty days looking to the organization of a new national political party that, its friends believe, will hold the balance of power in the United States in the near future.

It will be known as either the "Prohibition-Progressives," or the "Progressive-Prohibitions."

WHITE MEN KILLED; TWO HURT

Montana Box Car Battle Has Fatal Result.

Billings, Mont., Oct. 7.—In a box car battle between negroes and white men near Nihil, in Meagher county, one white man was killed, two others were severely wounded and one negro slightly injured.

The dead man was Michael Levings, who, with C. E. Campbell and L. Sitz-well, boarded the box car to ride to a nearby town in search of work. Campbell was shot four times, but it is not believed his injuries will prove fatal.
Nine men, including seven negroes,
are being held at Judith Gap pending an investigation.

Accused of Killing Wife.

Mountain View, N. H., Oct. 7.—Frederick L. Small, formerly a Boston stock broker, was held to the grand jury on a charge of murder in connection with the death of his wife, Mrs.
Florence A. Small, after a hearing in the district court.

What's the Use?

A cavalry recruit was suffering his first field day. He managed to control himself and his horse fairly well until the guns went off. Then the beast jibed and capered, and the rider dismounted rather hurriedly, but he was quickly back in his seat again.
Again the guns sounded, and again
the raw rider was thrown. This time he calmly went round to his horse's head and stood there holding the reins and patting it soothingly.

"Why don't you mount again, man?"
roared the sergeant furiously.
"What's the good?" replied the recruit disconsolately. "Those blooming guns will go off again in a minute."—London Globe.

GLAD HEARTS.

There are souls in the world who have the gift of finding joy everywhere and of leaving it behind them when they go. Their influence is an inevitable gladdening of the heart. They give light without meaning to shine.
These bright hearts have a great work to do for God.—Faber.

What He Was Showing.

A young man sitting in a subway car with legs crossed and one foot showing a highly polished shoe and silk sock extended so far into the aisle as to make it almost impossible for people to pass was brought to a sense of his disregard for others by three young women who sat opposite. One said, "I wonder if he is showing his foot or his shoe?" The second said loud enough to be heard above the car clatter, "I think he wants to show his clothed socks—watch it." "No," said the third; "he's only showing his bad manners." The foot came down and was lost in the crowd which got off at the next station.—New York Trib-

Over the Bridge of Sighs.
Nine times out of ten it is over the Bridge of Sighs that we pass the narrow gulf from youth to manhood.
That interval is usually occupied by an ill placed or disappointed affection.
We recover and we find ourselves new beings. The intellect has become hard-passed. The mind profits by the wrecks of every passion, and we may measure our road to wisdom by the sorrows we have undergone.—Bulwer-Lytton.

THE OLD RED COW.

The old cow walked by the dairy shed, And she said, in her rumbling way, "I'm feeling about as fine as silk, But I'd like a drink of my own good milk." And, looking around, she presently saw A pair that was standing beside the door. It was buttermilk about two days old, But the aged bovine hadn't been told. So she only remarked, "It's mean to milk An industrious cow of her own good milk." And she walked away, and that cow summed— She surmised about halfway down the lane, And she said, with astonishment, mixed with pain: "To judge by the flavor of that there milk, I can't be feeling as fine as silk. I must be bilious—I bet a hat— When I get to giving down milk like that."

Hot Rocks Waste Away.

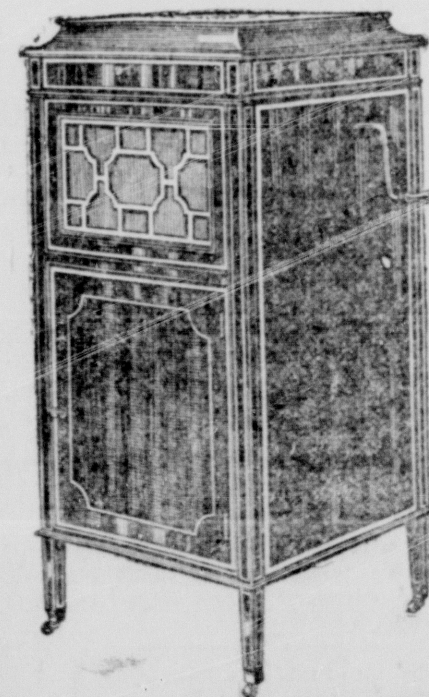

Erosion proceeds with considerable rapidity in the desert region of the southwest, notwithstanding the scarcity of continuously running water, for rock disintegration is accelerated by the great daily variations in temperature. The rocks are heated to 125 degrees F., or higher on the hot summer days and cool off rapidly at night to 70 degrees or less, a difference of 50 degrees or more, and in spring or autumn, when the sun's heat is less, the night temperatures are relatively lower.—Geological Survey Bulletin.

Tonight at the Best

Beatrice, a nun, known to the rest of her sisterhood as the "illy" for her great goodness and purity, hears for the first time of the wickedness of the world without the walls of the convent, when the Prince Candoni brings his ward, the Contessa Angelica de Vecchio, to the place because she had wed a plebeian artist, Carlo Parodi. The Contessa dies, pining for her lover. Beatrice steals away from the convent, and meets De Vecchio just as he is being released from prison. She tells him his wife is dead, and he takes her to a meeting of the workmen led by Guido Parli, the atheist, where plans are being laid for the assassination of the Prince tyrant. Guido and Beatrice fall in love. She converts him to religion. Then, seeing him with another woman in his arms, she leaves him. He returns to his old beliefs and leads his hand on the palace of the Prince. Beatrice goes to warn the aristocrat. A battle between the workmen and the soldiers takes place, and a stern outcome defines the future of Beatrice and Guido.

THE CLOWN'S FACE.

Pathetic Incident From Which the Use of Black Lines Come.

"One of the greatest tragedies of the theater," said a prominent comedian, "is connected with the clown."

"In the time of Louis XIV, there was a famous clown known as 'Fat William' (Gros Guillaume), who held his audience in the Rue Favari by his wonderful eccentricities of gesture, voice and mimicry. One night, so the legend runs, his wife was dying, and he was still obliged to go on and entertain the clanking, clashing, rickety Parisian mob that stood in the pit. It was in the days before there were seats in the orchestra.

"Like all imitators of the Italian 'commedia,' his face was whitened with flour. Under the burden of his great domestic sorrow he was stupid and slow in his performance, and in order to stir him up his companion on the stage hit him a resounding whack with a heavy cane. The combination of his sentimental troubles and the physical pain caused Gros Guillaume to weep. As the tears streamed down over his whitened face the aspect was so comical that the audience cheered and laughed itself into hysterics. And ever since then every clown has black lines on his whitened face.

"Many are the black lines on the face of the actor that the audience knows not of."—Chicago Tribune.

Lengthy and Monotonous.

One of the most curious contracts entered into by an operatic artist was that agreed to by Farinelli. When he visited Spain, Philip V. was suffering from mental depression, from which nothing aroused him until the arrival of Farinelli. The queen was so delighted to see her royal spouse once more interested that she engaged Farinelli at a salary of $10,000 to remain in Madrid. This he did, singing the same four songs to the king every night for ten years.

One Advantage.

"So you have adopted a baby to raise?" we ask of our friend. "Well, it may turn out all right, but don't you think you are taking chances?"

"Not a chance," he answers. "No matter how many bad habits the child may develop, my wife can't say he inherits any of them from my side of the house."—Life.

Woman's Suffrage Has Organized Strong Committees For Work This Fall — More Co-operation Needed to Get the Amendment Put Across.

the woman's party, is busy at work completing the fund and has adopted as her motto, "A thousand dollars a day from now until election day."

Both the Republican and Democratic parties are now fully alive to the importance of the women's vote in the west and realize that it may spell defeat or victory at the polls in November, according to Mrs. Baker, press chairman of the Congressional Union For Woman Suffrage and the woman's party, who returned to Washington recently after having been in New York conferring with political leaders of the national parties.

"The leaders of the national parties are now coming to us and consulting as to the western women's vote," said Mrs. Baker, "just as a man would go to a specialist if he were sick. We are 'specialists' on the woman's vote problem and know how to diagnose the case. For the past three years or more we have been studying it. We know, therefore, what its strength amounts to and what can and will be done with it in the coming election. We have been working among the women voters for the past three years and the Congressional union, of which the woman's party is an outgrowth, is the only national organization which has been doing such work."

Brocades For Autumn.

Sartorial history repeats itself constantly. Satins and brocades, which have their recurrent periods of popularity, are once more a la mode. For the autumn beautiful brocades in self tone and in metal effects are to be extremely popular, the entire leaning in the selection of silks being for those of high luster, the satin surface weaves taking precedence over corded silks. The fabrics showing some "body" will generally be preferred to the softer ones for fall and winter wear, especially when selected for daytime or actual service garments.

Serge, gaberdine, broadcloth and tricote are fabrics that will be greatly favored in the development of the popular coat dresses, and quite the smartest frocks will employ one of the wool fabrics mentioned, combined with satin, in their makeup. A touch of bright silk or bead embroidery is a favorite trimming addition.

For the Bath.

This is a fine mixture for the bath. It is sweet and refreshing to the body. Four pounds of fine oatmeal, two quarts of clean bran, one and one-half pounds of powdered orris root, one and one-half pounds of almond meal, one pound of white castile soap, powdered and dried; three ounces of primrose sachet. Instead of placing in cheese-cloth bags, which is a wasteful way of using the delightful meal, sprinkle a little of the mixture on the moistened wash cloth.

This recipe, if rubbed well into the body, acts like magic. It certainly is simple and well worth trying. Mix a tablespoonful of lavender water with several times the amount of pure olive oil. Apply a little at a time and rub it well into the body with the entire hand, using a rotary motion. Keep the body warm while taking the treatment.

Gas Saved.

In order to economize gas, roast a small joint of meat over a gas-ring instead of lighting the oven to do it. Well grease a saucapan or casserole, put the meat into it, with plenty of extra dripping, so that there shall be no risk of burning, put it over a gas jet turned very low and let it cook. Turn and baste the meat often, and it gets beautifully brown.

A Winter Without a Chap

Some people are indifferent as to their appearance, but we cannot understand how any one can be careless to their comfort.

Skin chapping is very painful and annoying and should be guarded against. There is absolutely no need of suffering from chaps this winter. Use

San-Tox Velvet Lotion

It will keep your skin soft and in a healthy condition. This remedy not only prevents chapping, but it will quickly heal rough and inflamed skin and restore it to its natural softness. Use it before and after exposure to the cold and wind and enjoy a "chapless" winter. Price 25 cents.

THE CLOWN'S FACE.

Pathetic Incident From Which the Use of Black Lines Come.

"One of the greatest tragedies of the theater," said a prominent comedian, "is connected with the clown."

"In the time of Louis XIV, there was a famous clown known as 'Tat William' (Gros Guillaume, who held his audience in the Rue Favari by his wonderful eccentricities of gesture, voice and mimicry. One night, so the legend runs, his wife was dying, and he was still obliged to go on and entertain the clanking, clashing, rihard Parisian mob that stood in the pit. It was in the days before there were seats in the orchestra.

"Like all imitators of the Italian 'commedia,' his face was whitened with flour. Under the burden of his great domestic sorrow he was stupefied and slow in his performance, and in order to stir him up his companion on the stage hit him a resounding whack with a heavy cane. The combination of his sentimental troubles and the physical pain caused Gros Guillaume to weep. As the tears streamed down over his whitened face the aspect was so comical that the audience cheered and laughed itself into hysterics. And ever since then every clown has black lines on his whitened face.

"Many are the black lines on the face of the actor that the audience knows not of."—Chicago Tribune.

Lengthy and Monotonous.

One of the most curious contracts entered into by an operatic artist was that agreed to by Farinelli. When he visited Spain, Philip V. was suffering from mental depression, from which nothing aroused him until the arrival of Farinelli. The queen was so delighted to see her royal spouse once more interested that she engaged Farinelli at a salary of $10,000 to remain in Madrid. This he did, singing the same four songs to the king every night for ten years.

One Advantage.

"So you have adopted a baby to raise?" we ask of our friend. "Well, it may turn out all right, but don't you think you are taking chances?"

"Not a chance," he answers. "No matter how many bad habits the child may develop, my wife can't say he inherits any of them from my side of the house."—Life.

Woman's Suffrage Has Organized Strong Committees For Work This Fall — More Co-operation Needed to Get the Amendment Put Across.

the woman's party, is busy at work completing the fund and has adopted as her motto, "A thousand dollars a day from now until election day."

Both the Republican and Democratic parties are now fully alive to the importance of the women's vote in the west and realize that it may spell defeat or victory at the polls in November, according to Mrs. Baker, press chairman of the Congressional Union For Woman Suffrage and the woman's party, who returned to Washington recently after having been in New York conferring with political leaders of the national parties.

"The leaders of the national parties are now coming to us and consulting as to the western women's vote," said Mrs. Baker, "just as a man would go to a specialist if he were sick. We are 'specialists' on the woman's vote problem and know how to diagnose the case. For the past three years or more we have been studying it. We know, therefore, what its strength amounts to and what can and will be done with it in the coming election. We have been working among the women voters for the past three years and the Congressional union, of which the woman's party is an outgrowth, is the only national organization which has been doing such work."

Brocades For Autumn.

Sartorial history repeats itself constantly. Satins and brocades, which have their recurrent periods of popularity, are once more a la mode. For the autumn beautiful brocades in self tone and in metal effects are to be extremely popular, the entire leaning in the selection of silks being for those of high luster, the satin surface weaves taking precedence over corded silks. The fabrics showing some "body" will generally be preferred to the softer ones for fall and winter wear, especially when selected for daytime or actual service garments.

Serge, gaberdine, broadcloth and tricote are fabrics that will be greatly favored in the development of the popular coat dresses, and quite the smartest frocks will employ one of the wool fabrics mentioned, combined with satin, in their makeup. A touch of bright silk or bead embroidery is a favorite trimming addition.

For the Bath.

This is a fine mixture for the bath. It is sweet and refreshing to the body. Four pounds of fine oatmeal, two quarts of clean bran, one and one-half pounds of powdered orris root, one and one-half pounds of almond meal, one pound of white castile soap, powdered and dried; three ounces of primrose sachet. Instead of placing in cheese-cloth bags, which is a wasteful way of using the delightful meal, sprinkle a little of the mixture on the moistened wash cloth.

This recipe, if rubbed well into the body, acts like magic. It certainly is simple and well worth trying. Mix a tablespoonful of lavender water with several times the amount of pure olive oil. Apply a little at a time and rub it well into the body with the entire hand, using a rotary motion. Keep the body warm while taking the treatment.

Gas Saved.

In order to economize gas, roast a small joint of meat over a gas-ring instead of lighting the oven to do it. Well grease a saucepan or casserole, put the meat into it, with plenty of extra dripping, so that there shall be no risk of burning, put it over a gas jet turned very low and let it cook. Turn and baste the meat often, and it gets beautifully brown.

A Winter Without a Chap

Some people are indifferent as to their appearance, but we cannot understand how any one can be careless to their comfort.

Skin chapping is very painful and annoying and should be guarded against. There is absolutely no need of suffering from chaps this winter. Use

San-Tox Velvet Lotion

It will keep your skin soft and in a healthy condition. This remedy not only prevents chapping, but it will quickly heal rough and inflamed skin and restore it to its natural softness. Use it before and after exposure to the cold and wind and enjoy a "chapless" winter. Price 25 cents.

ROUMANIANS IN RAGGED RETREAT

Teutons Defeat Foe Decisively in Eastern Transylvania.

ALLIES ACTIVE IN MACEDONIA

Entente Forces Continue Advance. Taking Town of Nevolyen—Violent Fighting in Region of the Cerna River, Paris Reports.

London, Oct. 7.—Turning against the Roumanians, who had been advancing steadily in Eastern Transylvania, Austro-Hungarian and German troops have defeated the invaders decisively along a fifty-mile front. North of Fogaras, near Rops the Roumanians are in retreat, pursued by the Teutonic troops.

The successful repulse of the invaders on the southern end of the line was at the hands of General von Falkenhayn, former chief of the German general staff, and who only last week routed the Roumanians around Her manstadt and drove them back to their own frontier. North of Rops the Austro-Hungarians recaptured positions and took more than 200 prisoners.

Bucharest Admits Reverse.

Bucharest admits that the Roumanian troops in Eastern Transylvania have been withdrawn before attacks by superior forces in the region of Fogaras.

In Dobruja heavy fighting continues along the lines south of the Constantza-Bucharest railway, with Russians and Roumanians in the center and on their left wing.

While General Brussloff apparently has ceased, at least for the moment, his attacks against the Austro-German lines in Volynia, west of Lutsk, he continues southward his assaults with great intensity against the positions of the Teutonic allies guarding the approaches to Lemberg.

Although the Russian attacks were held up northeast of Lemberg, those to the southeast of the capital, according to Petrograd, resulted in the taking of positions south of Brzezany and the capture of 500 prisoners.

Berlin, however, declares that all Russian attacks in Galicia have been repulsed and that the Austro-Germans have taken 1,200 prisoners from the Russians.

Advance in Macedonia.

In Macedonia the armies of the entente allies continue to advance. The British troops that crossed the Struma northeast of Saloniki have taken the town of Nevolyen, which was evacuated by the defenders.

South of Monastir, Serbia, violent fighting in the region of the Cerna river is reported by Paris.

The artillery continues active on the Somme front in France, according to the reports from the war office of all the belligerents.

A delayed report from Constantinople tells of the rout of Russian troops northwest of Hamadan, Persia. Tribesmen in Isfahan, Constantinople says, have risen in revolt and driven the Russians from the city.

Petrograd, on the other hand, reports progress for the Russians west and southwest of Trebizond, in Armenia.

MINORITY WHICH SWAYS ELECTIONS

It Is the Great Independent Voting Class.

TALK ABOUT NEW JERSEY

Both Parties Claim It, But Figures Show Nothing Definite—Religious Influences in Politics Do Count Now—advises—Gifford Pinchot Has Tasted Politics and Likes It.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Oct. 6.—[Special.]—Just how much the noise and picture stunts will do in politics no one can say. It is doubtful whether many votes will be made either by torchlight processions, motion pictures or vaudeville gags and jokes. These things serve to interest and amuse the people, but the people who are going to decide who will be the next president will be thinking very hard on the subject from now until election.

In normal political times—and we are almost in that state now—there will be partisans on both sides who will vote the party ticket regardless of anything that may be said or done. These are not only in a large majority, but consist at least of three-fourths of all the voters. The other one-fourth may sway from side to side, but half of them will decide the election. They are the great independent voting class. That class of voters decide upon issues and men, not upon claptrap devices or catchpenny performances.

Offset to German Vote.

It may be surprising news to the Republican managers, but the Democrats expect to gather in New York alone 100,000 foreign voters who have heretofore voted the Republican ticket. These voters are among French, Italian, Greek, Jews and that scattered foreign element from the Austrian empire, but hostile to the Austrian government. In other words, the Democrats hope to make up the loss of pro-German votes by gathering in the votes of the allies.

New Jersey In Doubt.

There has been a great deal of speculation about the New Jersey primary; but, according to the claims of both parties, New Jersey is still in doubt. However, there are some interesting results. The success of Jim Martine was rather surprising, for it was known that the sympathy of the administration was with the man who had twice placed Wilson in nomination for the presidency.

Martine incurred the opposition of the administration by his fight on administration policies, particularly on the canal tolls and his earnest espousal of everything hostile to England. Martine is very independent. He has ever been pronounced against woman suffrage and prohibition. In New Jersey, it is said, he will have the support of the Germans and the Irish.

Getting Both Sides.

Within four days there have been published in a Washington paper four interviews with men from California. Two of them said that California will go Democratic, and two said it was sure to go Republican. Two explained that the Progressives were for Wilson, and two explained that the Progressives had united with the Republicans on Hughes. There is nothing like getting both sides in a political campaign. It leaves the average person an opportunity to exercise his own judgment.

Religion in Politics.

"Hush, hush! You must not hint of religion in politics!" That was an old theory. But it has become taboo. To-day we consider religious influences as much as any other. Hence we hear talk about the effect of the Catholic vote, supposed to be against Wilson because of the recognition of Carranza in Mexico. We hear about the Jewish vote being for Wilson because Brandeis was appointed on the supreme bench. We hear, only faintly at this time, that the Mormon vote is lukewarm toward the Republicans and on that account two Republicans may lose their seats in the senate. Sutherland of Utah and Clark of Wyoming are threatened by the change of the Mormon vote, it is said. Many years ago the Mormons voted Democratic, but since Reed Smoot became so prominent in politics the Mormons have been mostly Republican.

Gifford Pinchot was never in politics until four years ago, but he likes the game so well that he continues very active. He is a resident of Pennsylvania, although he has been in Washington a great deal and owns one of the fine residences in this city.

Troops on the Border.

Just about the time the war department thinks it might be safe to return the state troops to their homes Pancho Villa does something, and there is another scare all around. It does seem strange that the United States has not a regular army strong enough to prevent raids from bandits.

No Southern Break.

Congressman Stedman of North Carolina, a Confederate veteran, came to Washington and gave the Democrats the cheering news that there would be no break in the solid south. He said that North Carolina was going to give Wilson a larger plurality than before.

EXERCISING THE MIND.

Time and Solitude Are Essential in Learning to Think Easily

An important element in easy thinking is:

Opportunity for thought in time and in solitude.

Many of us are "too busy," but with far less productive things, to really live or to really think. One should make time, make solitude for thought. People are often too much continuously together, especially young people. Each individual is separate and requires individual separate thought.

One in general should room by oneself or else in some way manage to spend considerable time alone, along the seashore or brook side or in one's room. The gentle exercise of a stroll or of a slow bicycle ride requiring little attention to itself is our ideal stimulant and occasion for thinking unless the attention wanders too much outwardly. The time should be somehow had in which to be alone.

Schools are oftentimes too crowded to allow their students to think. One can afford as a matter of dollars and cents to take an extra year in school if one can learn to think by doing so. The time so used is a rich and certain investment.

In default of better time a half hour after waking or before rising is a good time to think, and many people have their most productive and original thoughts occur to them then in the morning and early after a good night's rest.—Dr. G. Van N. Dearborn in Scientific American.

PORSON'S WEAKNESS.

The Drink He Got From Mrs. Hoppner's Private Bottle.

In "Samuel Rogers and His Circle" is this anecdote about Richard Porson, the famous classical scholar and professor of Greek:

When Hoppner, the painter, was residing in a cottage a few miles from London, Porson one afternoon suddenly arrived there. Hoppner said that he could not offer him dinner, as Mrs. H. had gone to town and had carried with her the key of the closet which contained the wine. Porson declared, however, that he would be content with a mutton chop and beer from the next ale house and accordingly stayed to dine.

During the evening Porson said, "I am quite certain that Mrs. Hoppner keeps some ale bottle for her private drinking in her own bedroom, so pray try if you can lay your hands on it." His host assured him that Mrs. H. had no such secret stores; but, Porson insisting that a search should be made, a bottle was at last discovered in the lady's apartment, to the surprise of Hoppner and the joy of Porson, who soon finished its contents, pronouncing it to be the best gin he had tasted for a long time.

Next day Hoppner, somewhat out of temper, informed his wife that Porson had drunk every drop of her concealed dram. "Drink every drop of it!" cried she. "Heaven above, it was spirits of wine for the lamp!"

Black Fridays.

In England the term Black Friday was first applied to Dec. 6, 1745, the day on which news reached London that the pretender, Charles Edward, had reached Derby. Again on May 11, 1896, when the failure of a large English discounting institution brought on a most disastrous panic, the day was called Black Friday. On the day of the suspension the Bank of England raised the rate of discount 9 per cent. Wild speculation in gold in New York and other cities culminated in a monetary crash on Sept. 16, 1875, that swept thousands of firms and individuals into financial ruin and caused a commercial depression that extended into the eighties of the last century; hence the origin of the term Black Friday in the United States.

No Handicap at All.

"It seems to me this lot is a long way from the car line," remarked the prospective purchaser, a little doubtfully.

"Why, that's an actual advantage," responded the gentlemanly agent engaged in making the sale. "When you reach the car in the morning you are already halfway to your office, and coming home at night you have a nice walk to give you an appetite for dinner."—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Fair Enough.

"You are the fourth tramp who has come here begging today," said the lady of the house, "and I'm all out of patience."

"I'm all out of vittles myself," replied the tramp. "Couldn't we make a trade?"—Exchange.

Handicapped.

"My dear, our automobile looks so cheap beside the one our neighbors have. We ought to get the latest make."

"I know we ought, but this is the only house I have to mortgage."—Baltimore American.

The Real Wish.

"Don't you wish you could see an old fashioned one ring circus?"

"No, I wish I were a boy again and could appreciate a little thing like a one ring circus."—Detroit Free Press.

Stinging.

Mr. Hughes—Oh, there are worse fellows in the world than I am! Mrs. Hughes—Don't be such a pessimist!—San Francisco Chronicle.

Patience, persistence and power to do are only acquired by work.—Holland.

WHAT HUGHES WOULD HAVE LEFT UNDONE

That Is Campaign's True Angle and Not the Trite Question with Which Hecklers Are Nagging the Republican Standard Bearer.

ACHIEVEMENTS ASSURANCE BLUNDERING IS NO HABIT

Winning Democrats Trying to Run Away From the Record of the Administration and to Inveigle the Voters Down Rhetorical By-Paths, All in the Thinly-Disguised Effort to Change the Subject.

When Mr. Hughes criticizes the record of the Administration the spokesmen of Mr. Wilson cry: "What would you have done?" They forget that it is Mr. Wilson and not Mr. Hughes who is on trial. They forget that four years ago Mr. Wilson criticized Mr. Taft and Mr. Roosevelt throughout the campaign and that Mr. Taft and Mr. Roosevelt defended their respective records, instead of crying "What would you have done?" They forget these things or they refuse to confess them. They are trying to run away from the record of the Administration and to inveigle the voters down some by-path of rhetorical hypothesis, all in the effort to change the subject.

"By their fruits ye shall know them." When Mr. Hughes was Governor of New York he did not pay political debts by filling the public offices with unfit men. He did not champion certain principles during his campaign and repudiate them after he entered office. As Governor, he did not resort to brave and beautiful words as a substitute for firm and consistent deeds. He was careful in his use of words but he backed his words with deeds. He did not promise what he could not perform. He did not plaster the people with compliments they did not deserve. He was not a rhetorician, he was not a flatterer, he was not "too proud to fight" for labor or for capital, for the strong or the weak, when the right was on their side.

Mr. Wilson's spokesmen seek to divert attention from the attacks Mr. Hughes is making upon the record of the Administration by asking him: "What would you do?" They are unconsciously helping Mr. Hughes. They are reminding the memory of the people the record he made throughout his two terms as Governor of New York. It was then that he first said "public office shall not be a private snap under my administration," and made performance square with promise. There is this about Mr. Hughes that makes him so different from Mr. Wilson: "Hughes means what he says." So it is that the campaign is really a contest of character between two men, with sincerity as the differentiating and deciding factor.

FIERY WORDS.

"Direct violations of a nation's sovereignty cannot await vindication in suits for damages—the nation which violates those essential rights must be checked and called to account by direct challenge and resistance."—From Woodrow Wilson's speech accepting the Democratic nomination for presidency.

BUT—The American flag is still unsaluted at Vera Cruz.

Villa is still uncaptured and unpunished.

Carranza still slaps the United States.

There still has been no accounting for American lives and property destroyed in Mexico.

The whole question of reparation for invasion of American rights by various warring nations is still sleeping in a pigeonhole.

AND—All the "direct challenge and resistance" noticeable to the average American is included in a series of notes said to possess high literary quality, if nothing else in particular.

Wabbling Woodrow.

Opportunism has claims that every statesman must respect. But never has there been an opportunist in the White House of greater willingness to change than the present incumbent. The country feared it had placed power in the hands of a doctrinaire schoolmaster incapable of bending. It finds that it has a man of remarkable plasticity of judgment, who one moment stands for states' rights and the next for nationalism, who one day is a pacifist, and the next is out-shouting Col. Roosevelt for arms and ships, who one week is for a barren neutrality and the next for war in behalf of general righteousness, who one night is for collective wage bargaining and arbitration of industrial disputes and the next is waving the flag of decreasing wages up or down as the votes of the larger number can be controlled.—New York Globe and Commercial Advertiser.

Gen. Pershing's army continues in fair fettle, "fit for a fight or a frolic." To its credit let it be said it went as far as politics permitted.

MR. HUGHES ANSWERS.

Those Who Clamored for His Views Are Hearing Them.

Those friends of Democracy who clamored so loudly for Mr. Hughes' opinions upon current issues while he still held the high office of justice of the supreme court, are now fully answered by the private citizen, who surrendered his judicial position to accede to the wishes of a majority of the people as expressed through their instructions to their delegates to the Republican national convention.

Mr. Hughes has not disappointed those who have reposed confidence in his character and judgment. In his speech of acceptance he has clearly set forth the vital issues upon which the Republican party proposes to conduct the campaign this fall. On the platform he is telling the nation wherein the present administration has been at fault and what is necessary to be done to restore the United States to the place of respect and honor to which it is entitled in the eyes of the world.

MR. HUGHES HAS EXPLODED THE "KEPT-US-OUT-OF-WAR" ARGUMENT.

Mr. Hughes' attack upon the "kept-us-out-of-war" argument has aroused a story of enthusiasm.

"Kept us out of war?" he demands. "Why, there were nineteen men—good American soldiers, shot down at Vera Cruz, and many Mexicans were killed by our men. That was war. Moreover, it was a very ignoble war. I have heard three explanations of the Vera Cruz move.

"First, it was explained that it was made in order to compel somebody to salute the flag—somebody who had insulted us. But the flag was not saluted and has not been to this day. Then it was said that the salute was not what we sought, but to prevent the landing of a boatload of ammunition intended for Huerta. The ammunition, landed, however, and it has been shown that it reached Huerta in due season without interference on our part.

"When that reason was shown to be untenable, a third one—possibly the real one—finally was advanced. It was said that our seizure of Vera Cruz was a move to compel the retirement of Huerta. It seems possible that this is true, although we had promised the Mexicans that we would not interfere in their affairs and told them more than once that we wanted them to handle their own affairs.

"That is why the Mexicans could not understand us and that is why they show little faith in our promises."

WE WANT THE AMERICAN FLAG UNSULLIED.

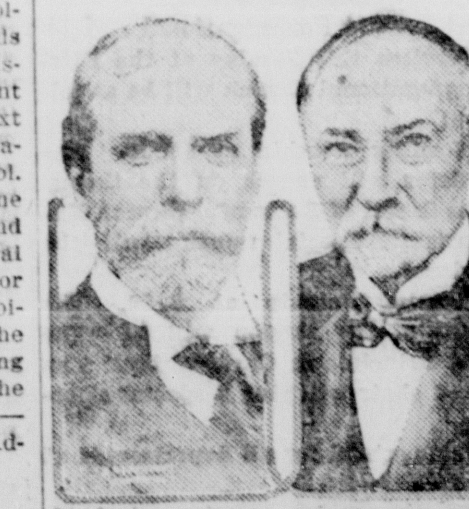

"Now, my friends, we want not only American efficiency in business, in efficiency in the organization of business, in the protection of the factors of human industry and commerce, we want the American flag unsullied and the American name honored throughout the world."—From Mr. Hughes' speech at Chicago.

MANANA

Manana, which is Mexican for "watchful waiting," is the Democratic keynote in the campaign. The Wilson drive is to begin "sometime" after September 1; but no definite engagements have been made, it is announced, for him to commence making political speeches. He has tentative engagements to make some Western visits about the middle of September but nothing positive. Plans are being formulated for carrying on a campaign to capture the woman vote of the country, but who will make the speeches on this phase of the controversy has not been determined. It had been expected that Mr. Bryan would speak in the Maine campaign, but it is now believed he cannot do so, but will make some speeches later. And so it goes. Watchful waiting will prevail while, in the meantime, Mr. Hughes is carrying on a positive campaign and arousing the entire Western country.

WILSON'S POLICIES BLOWN UP.

Charles Evans Hughes did have explosives with him when his motor car was searched by a Canadian soldier, but they were under the candidate's hat. Mr. Hughes will set them off on his Western tour and some of Mr. Wilson's policies will be blown up.—New York Sun.

PLEA FOR A HALF NICKEL.

It Would Be Handy in Making Change and Might Reduce Prices.

The ham sandwich, which was once 5 cents, now frequently costs a dime. The same disturbing truth applies to other things in common life, both inside and outside of lunch rooms. There is no need of statistics from economists to inform us that the cost of living has advanced. Every spender of money knows it. Retailers are more reluctant to put prices up than is generally realized. They know that consumption decreases as prices advance. That means less business, and profits depend partly on large business. When more than the traffic will bear is charged the traffic falls off.

Change making is one of the items in up to date retailing. It must be done quickly if expenses are to be kept down. The young woman at the lunch room desk has not time to count pennies. She must deal in nickels, dimes and quarters if she is to maintain her astonishing speed and accuracy.

We need another coin. Three cent pieces were confused with dimes and were hard to use because they were not fractions of other currency. No one but a statistician thinks in decimals. The rest of us do our sums in fractions. Four three-cent pieces make 12 cents, but there is no such coin. Eight of them make 24 cents, but the coin almost corresponding is worth 1 cent more. If three cent pieces were again issued they would not fill the bill.

With a half nickel it would be different. Half a nickel is a fraction of every coin from the mint. Were there such a coin 5 cent raises would not have been so common. If there should be such a coin many prices would come down.—Boston Globe.

Our First Tariff.

The first tariff act in our country was signed by President Washington on July 4, 1790, near the very beginning of his first administration. Hamilton was the author of the measure, which provided for specific duty on some forty-seven articles and ad valorem rates on other groups of articles. The second tariff act was approved by the president in August, 1790.—New York American.

ROUMANIANS IN RAGGED RETREAT

Teutons Defeat Foe Decisively in Eastern Transylvania.

ALLIES ACTIVE IN MACEDONIA

Entente Forces Continue Advance, Taking Town of Nevolyen—Violent Fighting in Region of the Cerna River, Paris Reports.

London, Oct. 7.—Turning against the Roumanians, who had been advancing steadily in Eastern Transylvania, Austro-Hungarian and German troops have defeated the invaders decisively along a fifty-mile front. North of Pogoras, near Rapa the Roumanians are in retreat, pursued by the Teutonic troops.

The successful repulse of the invaders on the southern end of the line was at the hands of General von Falkenhayn, former chief of the German general staff, and who only last week routed the Roumanians around Hermannstadt and drove them back to their own frontier. North of Rapa the Austro-Hungarians recaptured positions and took more than 200 prisoners.

Bucharest Admits Reverse.
 Bucharest admits that the Roumanian troops in Eastern Transylvania have been withdrawn before attacks by superior forces in the region of Fogaras.

In Dobruja heavy fighting continued along the lines south of the Constanta-Bucharest railway, with Russians and Roumanians in the center and on their left wing.

While General Brusilov apparently has ceased, at least for the moment, his attacks against the Austro-German lines in Volynia, west of Lutsk, he continues southward his assaults with great intensity against the positions of the Teutonic allies guarding the approaches to Lemberg.

Although the Russian attacks were held up southeast of Lemberg, those to the southeast of the capital, according to Petrograd, resulted in the taking of positions south of Bratslav and the capture of 500 prisoners.

Berlin, however, declares that all Russian attacks in Galicia have been repulsed and that the Austro-Germans have taken 1,200 prisoners from the Russians.

Advance in Macedonia.

In Macedonia the armies of the entente allies continue to advance. The British troops that crossed the Struma northeast of Saloniki have taken the town of Nevolyen, which was evacuated by the defenders.

South of Monastir, Serbia, violent fighting in the region of the Cerna river is reported by Paris.

The artillery continues active on the Somme front in France, according to the reports from the war office of all the belligerents.

A delayed report from Constantinople tells of the rout of Russian troops northwest of Hamadan, Persia. Tribesmen in Ispahan, Constantinople says, have risen in revolt and driven the Russians from the city.

Petrograd, on the other hand, reports progress for the Russians west and southwest of Trebizond, in Armenia.

MINORITY WHICH SWAYS ELECTIONS

It Is the Great Independent Voting Class.

TALK ABOUT NEW JERSEY

Both Parties Claim It, But Figures Show Nothing Definite—Religious Influences in Politics Do Count Now—Gifford Pinchot Has Tasted Politics and Likes It.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Oct. 6.—[Special.]—Just how much the noise and picture stunts will do in politics no one can say. It is doubtful whether many votes will be made either by torchlight processions, motion pictures or vaudeville gags and jokes. These things serve to interest and amuse the people, but the people who are going to decide who will be the next president will be thinking very hard on the subject from now until election.

In normal political times—and we are almost in that state now—there will be partisans on both sides who will vote the party ticket regardless of anything that may be said or done. These are not only in a large majority, but consist at least of three-fourths of all the voters. The other one-fourth may swing from side to side, but half of them will decide the election. They are the great independent voting class. That class of voters decide upon issues and men, not upon claptrap devices or catchpenny performances.

Offset to German Vote.

It may be surprising news to the Republican managers, but the Democrats expect to gather in New York alone 100,000 foreign voters who have heretofore voted the Republican ticket. These voters are among French, Italian, Greek, Jews and that scattered foreign element from the Austrian empire, but hostile to the Austrian government. In other words, the Democrats hope to make up the loss of pro-German votes by gathering in the votes of the allies.

New Jersey In Doubt.

There has been a great deal of speculation about the New Jersey primary; but, according to the claims of both parties, New Jersey is still in doubt. However, there are some interesting results. The success of Jim Martine was rather surprising, for it was known that the sympathy of the administration was with the man who had twice placed Wilson in nomination for the presidency.

Martine incurred the opposition of the administration by his fight on administration policies, particularly on the canal tolls and his earnest espousal of everything hostile to England. Martine is very independent. He has ever been pronounced against woman suffrage and prohibition. In New Jersey, it is said, he will have the support of the Germans and the Irish.

Getting Both Sides.

Within four days there have been published in a Washington paper four interviews with men from California. Two of them said that California will go Democratic, and two said it was sure to go Republican. Two explained that the Progressives were for Wilson, and two explained that the Progressives had united with the Republicans on Hughes. There is nothing like getting both sides in a political campaign. It leaves the average person an opportunity to exercise his own judgment.

Religion In Politics.

"Hush, hush! You must not hint of religion in politics!" That was an old theory. But it has become taboo. Today we consider religious influences as much as any other. Hence we hear talk about the effect of the Catholic vote, supposed to be against Wilson because of the recognition of Carranza in Mexico. We hear about the Jewish vote being for Wilson because Brandeis was appointed on the supreme bench. We hear, only faintly at this time, that the Mormon vote is lukewarm toward the Republicans and on that account two Republicans may lose their seats in the senate. Suburban land of Utah and Clark of Wyoming are threatened by the change of the Mormon vote, it is said. Many years ago the Mormons voted Democratic, but since Reed Smoot became so prominent in politics the Mormons have been mostly Republican.

Pinchot In Politics.

Gifford Pinchot was never in politics until four years ago, but he likes the game so well that he continues very active. He is a resident of Pennsylvania, although he has been in Washington a great deal and owns one of the fine residences in this city.

Troops on the Border.

Just about the time the war department thinks it might be safe to return the state troops to their homes Pinchot Villa does something, and there is another scare all around. It does seem strange that the United States has not a regular army strong enough to prevent raids from bandits.

No Southern Break.

Congressman Stedman of North Carolina, a Confederate veteran, came to Washington and gave the Democrats the cheering news that there would be no break in the solid south. He said that North Carolina was going to give Wilson a larger plurality than before.

EXERCISING THE MIND.

Time and Solitude Are Essential in Learning to Think Easily

An important element in easy thinking is: Opportunity for thought in time and in solitude.

Many of us are "too busy," but with far less productive things, to really live or to really think. One should make time, make solitude for thought. People are often too much continuously together, especially young people. Each individual is separate and requires individual separate thought.

One in general should room by oneself or else in some way manage to spend considerable time alone, along the seashore or brook side or in one's room. The gentle exercise of a stroll or of a slow bicycle ride requiring little attention to itself is our ideal stimulant and occasion for thinking unless the attention wanders too much outwardly. The time should be somehow had in which to be alone.

Schools are oftentimes too crowded to allow their students to think. One can afford as a matter of dollars and cents to take an extra year in school if one can learn to think by doing so. The time so used is a rich and certain investment.

In default of better time a half hour after waking or before rising is a good time to think, and many people have their most productive and original thoughts occur to them thus in the morning and early after a good night's rest.—Dr. G. Van N. Dearborn in Scientific American.

PERSON'S WEAKNESS.

The Drink He Got From Mrs. Hopper's Private Bottle.

In "Samuel Rogers and His Circle" is this anecdote about Richard Porson, the famous classical scholar and professor of Greek:

When Hopper, the painter, was residing in a cottage a few miles from London, Porson one afternoon suddenly arrived there. Hopper said that he could not offer him dinner, as Mrs. H. had gone to town and had carried with her the key of the closet which contained the wine. Porson declared, however, that he would be content with a mutton chop and beer from the next ale house and accordingly stayed to dine.

During the evening Porson said: "I am quite certain that Mrs. Hopper keeps some nice bottle for her private drinking in her own bedroom, so pray try if you can lay your hands on it." His host assured him that Mrs. H. had no such secret stores; but, Porson insisting that a search should be made, a bottle was at last discovered in the lady's apartment, to the surprise of Hopper and the joy of Porson, who soon finished its contents, promising it to be the best gin he had tasted for a long time.

Next day Hopper, somewhat out of temper, informed his wife that Porson had drunk every drop of her concealed dram. "Drunk every drop of it?" cried she. "Heaven above, it was spirits of wine for the lamp!"

Black Fridays.

In England the term Black Friday was first applied to Dec. 6, 1715, the day on which news reached London that the pretender, Charles Edward had reached Derby. Again on May 11, 1866, when the failure of a large English discounting institution brought on a most disastrous panic, the day was called Black Friday. On the day of the suspension of the Bank of England raised the rate of discount 10 per cent. Wild speculation in gold in New York and other cities culminated in a money crisis on Sept. 16, 1875, that swept thousands of firms and individuals into financial ruin and caused a commercial depression that extended into the eighties of the last century; hence the origin of the term Black Friday in the United States.

No Handicap at All.

"It seems to me this lot is a long way from the car line," remarked the prospective purchaser, a little doubtfully.

"Why, that's an actual advantage," responded the gentlemanly agent engaged in making the sale. "When you reach the car in the morning you are already halfway to your office, and coming home at night you have a nice walk to give you an appetite for dinner."—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Fair Enough.

"You are the fourth tramp who has come here begging today," said the lady of the house, "and I'm all out of patience."

"I'm all out of vittles myself," replied the tramp. "Couldn't we make a trade?"—Exchange.

WHAT HUGHES WOULD HAVE LEFT UNDONE

That Is Campaign's True Angle and Not the Trite Question with Which Hecklers Are Nagging the Republican Standard Bearer.

ACHIEVEMENTS ASSURANCE BLUNDERING IS NO HABIT

Winning Democrats Trying to Run Away From the Record of the Administration and to Inveigle the Voters Down Rhetorical By-Paths, All in the Thinly-Disguised Effort to Change the Subject.

When Mr. Hughes criticizes the record of the Administration the spokesmen of Mr. Wilson cry: "What would you have done?" They forget that it is Mr. Wilson and not Mr. Hughes who is on trial. They forget that four years ago Mr. Wilson criticized Mr. Taft and Mr. Roosevelt throughout the campaign and that Mr. Taft and Mr. Roosevelt defended their respective records, instead of crying "What would you have done?" They forget these things or they refuse to confess them. They are trying to run away from the record of the Administration and induce the people to follow them down some by-path of rhetorical hypothesis, all in the effort to change the subject.

"By their fruits ye shall know them." When Mr. Hughes was Governor of New York he did not pay political debts by filling the public offices with unfit men. He did not champion certain principles during his campaign and repudiate them after he entered office. As Governor, he did not resort to brave and beautiful words as a substitute for firm and consistent deeds. He was careful in his use of words but he backed his words with deeds. He did not promise what he could not perform. He did not plaster the people with compliments they did not deserve. He was not a rhetorician, he was not a flatterer, he was not "too proud to fight" for labor or for capital, for the strong or the weak, when the right was on their side.

Mr. Wilson's spokesmen seek to divert attention from the attacks Mr. Hughes is making upon the record of the Administration by asking him: "What would you do?" They are unconsciously helping Mr. Hughes. They are reminding the memory of the people the record he made throughout his two terms as Governor of New York. It was then that he first said "public office shall not be a private snip under my administration," and made performance square with promise. There is this about Mr. Hughes that makes him so different from Mr. Wilson: "Hughes means what he says." So it is that the campaign is really a contest of character between two men, with sincerity as the differentiating and deciding factor.

FIERY WORDS.

"Direct violations of a nation's sovereignty cannot await vindication in suits for damages—the nation which violates those essential rights must be checked and called to account by direct challenge and resistance."—From Woodrow Wilson's speech accepting the Democratic nomination for presidency.

BUT—The American flag is still unsaluted at Vera Cruz.

Villa is still uncaptured and unpunished.

Carranza still slaps the United States.

There still has been no accounting for American lives and property destroyed in Mexico.

The whole question of reparation for invasion of American rights by various warring nations is still sleeping in a pigeonhole.

AND—

All the "direct challenge and resistance" noticeable to the average American is included in a series of notes said to possess high literary quality, if nothing else in particular.

Wabbling Woodrow.

Opportunism has claims that every statesman must respect. But never has there been an opportunist in the White House of greater willingness to change than the present incumbent. The country feared it had placed power in the hands of a doctrinaire schoolmaster incapable of bending. It finds that it has a man of remarkable plasticity of judgment, who one moment stands for states' rights and the next for nationalism, who one day is a pacifist, and the next is out-shouting Col. Roosevelt for arms and ships, who one week is for a barren neutrality and the next for war in behalf of general righteousness, who one night is for collective wage bargaining and arbitration of industrial disputes and the next is waving the flag of decreasing wages up or down as the votes of the larger number can be controlled.—New York Globe and Commercial Advertiser.

Gen. Pershing's army continues in its fettle, "fit for a fight or a frolic." To its credit let it be said it went as far as politics permitted.

MR. HUGHES ANSWERS.

Those Who Clamored for His Views Are Hearing Them.

Those friends of Democracy who clamored so loudly for Mr. Hughes' opinions upon current issues while he still held the high office of justice of the supreme court, are now fully answered by the private citizen, who surrendered his judicial position to accede to the wishes of a majority of the people as expressed through their instructions to their delegates to the Republican national convention.

Mr. Hughes has not disappointed those who have reposed confidence in his character and judgment. In his speech of acceptance he has clearly set forth the vital issues upon which the Republican party proposes to conduct the campaign this fall. On the platform he is telling the nation wherein the present administration has been at fault and what is necessary to be done to restore the United States to the place of respect and honor to which it is entitled in the eyes of the world.

MR. HUGHES HAS EXPLODED THE "KEPT-US-OUT-OF-WAR" ARGUMENT.

Mr. Hughes' attack upon the "kept-us-out-of-war" argument has aroused a story of enthusiasm.

"Kept us out of war?" he demands. "Why, there were nineteen men—good American soldiers, shot down at Vera Cruz, and many Mexicans were killed by our men. That was war. Moreover, it was a very ignoble war. I have heard three explanations of the Vera Cruz move.

"First, it was explained that it was made in order to compel somebody to salute the flag—somebody who had insulted us. But the flag was not saluted and has not been to this day. Then it was said that the salute was not what we sought, but to prevent the landing of a boatload of ammunition intended for Huerta. The ammunition, landed, however, and it has been shown that it reached Huerta in due season without interference on our part.

"When that reason was shown to be untenable, a third one—and possibly the real one—finally was advanced. It was said that our seizure of Vera Cruz was a move to compel the retirement of Huerta. It seems possible that this is true, although we had promised the Mexicans that we would not interfere in their affairs and told them more than once that we wanted them to handle their own affairs.

"That is why the Mexicans could not understand us and that is why they show little faith in our promises."

WE WANT THE AMERICAN FLAG UNSULLIED.

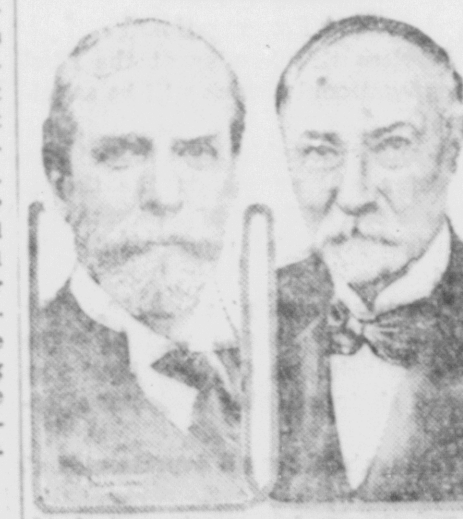

"Now, my friends, we want not only American efficiency in business, in efficiency in the organization of business, in the protection of the factors of human industry and commerce, we want the American flag unsullied and the American name honored throughout the world."—From Mr. Hughes' speech at Chicago.

MANANA

Manana, which is Mexican for "watchful waiting," is the Democratic keynote in the campaign. The Wilson drive is to begin "sometime" after September 1; but no definite engagements have been made. It is announced, for him to commence making political speeches. He has tentative engagements to make some Western visits about the middle of September but nothing positive. Plans are being formulated for carrying on a campaign to capture the woman vote of the country, but who will make the speeches on this phase of the controversy has not been determined. It had been expected that Mr. Bryan would speak in the Maine campaign, but it is now believed he cannot do so, but will make some speeches later. And so it goes. Watchful waiting will prevail while, in the meantime, Mr. Hughes is carrying on a positive campaign and arousing the entire Western country.

WILSON'S POLICIES BLOWN UP.

Charles Evans Hughes did have explosives with him when his motor car was searched by a Canadian soldier, but they were under the candidate's hat. Mr. Hughes will set them off on his Western tour and some of Mr. Wilson's policies will be blown up.—New York Sun.

PLEA FOR A HALF NICKEL.

It Would Be Handy in Making Change and Might Reduce Prices.

The five-cent coin, which was once 5 cents, now frequently costs a dime. The same disturbing truth applies to other things in common life, both inside and outside of lunch rooms. There is no need of statistics from economists to inform us that the cost of living has advanced. Every spender of money knows it. Retailers are more reluctant to put prices up than is generally realized. They know that consumption decreases as prices advance. That means less business, and profits depend partly on large business. When more than the traffic will bear is charged the traffic falls off.

Change making is one of the items in up to date retailing. It must be done quickly if expenses are to be kept down. The young woman at the lunch room desk has not time to count pennies. She must deal in nickels, dimes and quarters if she is to maintain her astonishing speed and accuracy.

ASSOCIATED CHARITIES

Annual Meeting of the Advisory Board Was Held at the Chamber of Commerce Rooms

THE ELECTION OF OFFICERS

B. J. Broady President, W. B. Lear Secretary, Report on Work Accomplished by Association

Officers of Associated Charities

President—B. J. Broady.
Vice President—Mrs. J. A. Thabes.
Treasurer—J. S. Robertson.
Secretary—W. B. Lear.
Visitors—Mrs. Amy J. Bertram and Mrs. Henry Theliot.

The annual meeting of the advisory board of the Associated Charities was held at the Chamber of Commerce rooms and Secretary W. B. Lear made this report:

The work of the Associated Charities has been rather limited during the past six months due to the fact that with the coming of summer the calls for aid became less frequent. Work also has been comparatively plentiful and conditions generally have been good, so that many have been able to earn their own support.

However, the members of the executive committee have furnished considerable relief during the summer in the way of clothing and provisions and have collected clothing and shoes in anticipation of the calls for these things during the coming winter.

Miss Puckering, our visiting nurse, has done efficient work among the poor of the city and has found her time pretty well taken up answering the numerous calls for her services and in rendering assistance to the visitors of this association. Miss Puckering also rendered valuable service in conducting the "Baby Welfare" campaign.

Early in May the Associated Charities held a "Baby Welfare Week" which we believe was a success and has resulted in spreading abroad such useful information relative to the proper care and development of those who are to be our future citizens.

The financial condition of the association is not very good just at present, due to the fact of the heavy disbursements incident to the "Baby Welfare" campaign and to the poor response to our appeal for contributions from affiliated organizations.

To offset this we are planning on holding a tag day in the near future and hope to increase our funds so as to handle the increased demands which will no doubt fall upon the association with the coming of winter.

During the past six months the receipts from all sources were $60.77, while the disbursements for the same period were $540.84, of this amount the sum of $93.99 was spent in connection with the "Baby Welfare Week."

The association begins its new year with a balance of $315.27 in its treasury.

VISITING NURSE

Miss Rachel Puckering Reports on Work Accomplished in Ten Months

Miss Rachel Puckering, visiting nurse of the city, in her report covering work from December, 1915, to Sept. 30, 1916, made a total number of 1119 visits.

There were 239 baby visits, 122 poverty calls, 116 visits of inquiry and investigation, 376 on sickness, 141 school visits, 38 prenatal, 8 committee meetings, 16 "Baby Welfare Week" committee meetings, 63 calls of various natures.

PRaises FOR SECRETARY

Resolution Adopted by Commercial Club of Thief River Falls Regarding Frederick T. Lincoln

The following resolution was unanimously adopted by directors of the Commercial club of Thief River Falls on October 5:

Resolved—In closing the last chapter of the administration of our esteemed secretary, Frederick T. Lincoln, we, the directors and executive board, of the Thief River Falls Commercial club, claim it as a privilege and pleasure to say a few words in commendation, recommendation and appreciation.

Mr. Lincoln came to our club two years ago, accepting here, among strangers, his first assignment of this character, with a newly organized association. The club and secretary were without experience. While this had some advantages, it also presented problems and complications. Mr. Lincoln, through his own initiative and genius for organization took this cumbersome body, arranged the committees, outlined the working plans, directed the movement of each and every activity, kept up the social life of the club, pushed the business interests, directed new plans, brought meetings to the club rooms and conventions to the city, assisted the fair association, the city council, the Woman's club—in fact, kept himself in close and indispensable association with all the organizations and business institutions of the city at all times.

During all this time, as secretary of the club, he has sent out to dozens of daily and weekly papers, periodicals and magazines, publicity of a high character, articles on the country and town, about the land, the country's resources, its relations and value.

As a publicity man, Mr. Lincoln has had a wide range of experience. While his natural ability as an organizer of forces, and his administrative ability make him an exceedingly valuable man, we appreciate more than any other thing the way he has put our city on the map, and we know his publicity work alone has been worth much more than we have paid him in salary.

We have appreciated that Mr. Lincoln during his stay with us was only "on the way." We are glad if we have helped in any way to promote his interests. We commend him to his new associates, and assure them they will find their new secretary a competent, energetic and conscientious official.

SPECIAL NOTICE

The officers and members of Alpha Chapter No. 23, Order of Eastern Star are asked to take note of the following:

A regular communication will be held on Monday at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of regular business and initiation.

This will be followed by a program of music and lunch will be served. All members are asked to be present.

The officers are requested to be present at 7:30.

TODAY'S NORTHWEST ODDITY

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 7.—The old junk man was today blamed for the high cost of paper. Dealers in this great paper producing state explained that when Europeans started throwing so much metal at each other, the demand here for metal became high and junk men began gathering old iron rather than rags. High grade papers are made from rags. Shortage of them forced up better grades of paper. The high cost of print paper and poorer grades of paper is unexplained. Some dealers thought it went up in sympathy.

Story of Hans Anderson and the Fortune He Acquired on Range Reads Like Romance

THE CROFT MINE ON HIS FARM

Much Drilling at Barrows and Mangane, Progress Made in Shaft Sinking There

A history of Hans Anderson, mine owner at Crosby, reads like a romance. Anderson bought his farm twenty years ago from the Northern Pacific railway company and acquired complete title at $3 an acre. Then followed years of hard labor. He hung on to his property. Iron was discovered and made him a rich man and he built a luxurious home on the shore of Serpentine lake next door to George H. Crosby's "Hickory Lodge" in the town of Crosby. On some of his land is located the Croft mine, now shipping ore. On another forty drilling is under way, the land being the southwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 2, township 56, range 28.

Work at the Rowley mine at Barrows is proceeding well. Senator C. B. Buckman, of Little Falls, is reported as figuring on sinking a shaft on his ground near Barrows. Drilling is still going on at the Buckman property. A new drill has been spotted east of Barrows in section 10, just north of the Northern Pacific railway tracks.

The Merritt shaft is now down about 40 feet. The McKinney shaft is down about 55 feet. The latter is better known as the Flynn property at Mangane.

The Ferro mine and the Hoch mine, both near Mangane, are shipping steadily. About a dozen drills are operating close to the town of Mangane and rich ore strikes are reported.

A MERCILESS JUDGE

One Who Shows No Favor

A merciless Judge is Father Time. Before him the weak and the wanting go to the wall. Only the truth can stand. For years the following statement from a Brainerd resident has withstood this sternest of all tests.

William Wick, R. F. D. No. 4, W. Brainerd, says: "I had kidney and bladder trouble and nothing seemed to benefit me. My back was so bad at times that I couldn't stoop or straighten after I had been sitting for a while. I got Doan's Kidney Pills at H. P. Dunn's Drug Store and they fixed me up in good shape."

A PERMANENT CURE

OVER THREE YEARS LATER, Mr. Wick said: "I am glad to say the cure Doan's Kidney Pills made has been permanent."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Wick has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Advt.

Build a Tabernacle

Eau Claire, Wis., Oct. 7.—One hundred business men took a Saturday afternoon off today, to build a tabernacle. Armed with hammers, nails, saws and other tools of the building trade, they met this afternoon, proceeded to the city hay market in the center of the city and proceeded to erect a structure accommodating 2,500 for the revival Rev. James Reyburn will open tomorrow.

St. Thomas Schedule

St. Paul, Oct. 7.—If the University of North Dakota football team is able to lick St. Thomas aggregation this afternoon, and repeat against the University of Minnesota next Saturday, their great little day will be over. Not being members of the conference, their football activity is limited to an annual sortie against the Gophers, in training. Then they retire, talk it over up in North Dakota for a year and return next year.

Prison Uplift

St. Paul, Oct. 7.—Several hundred persons interested in prison uplift, leave this evening for Buffalo, N. Y., to attend the National Prisons congress there next week.

Every member of the state board of control, the state visiting board and other state officials are expected to make the trip.

Retain Military Status

St. Paul, Oct. 7.—Members and officials of Battery E, University militia units, will retain their military status, Adj. Gen. F. B. Wood was officially informed today. Fear that the unit would lose because of its being withdrawn from the border was thus dissipated.

To Disport in Snow

St. Paul, Oct. 7.—Business men want everybody in the United States to disport in St. Paul's snow, when the thermometer stands at 31 below next January. Minnesotans gaily bedecked in costumes symbolic of winter, froliced around in ice and snow last January and seemed to enjoy it. Now Charles Patterson, booster from the St. Paul Outdoor Winter Sport Carnival, wants to make the affair national, with headquarters in every state capital, and special arrangements made for state delegations all over the United States. Louis W. Hill, president of the Great Northern railroad and the carnival association, sanctions the idea.

Hill $100,000,000 Estate

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 7.—Louis W. Hill today legally passed into control of the $100,000,000 estate of his father, James J. Hill, builder and practical owner of the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Burlington railways. The inventory of the estate was filed in probate court yesterday. Hill died several months ago.

Securities valued at $52,000,000, include holdings in the First National bank, New York, $4,100,000; Chase National bank, New York, $1,000,000; Illinois Trust Company, Chicago, $500,000; First National bank, Chicago, $800,000; notes on allies governments of Europe, $1,500,000; other personal holdings include a million dollar art collection are local. Relatives refused to comment on a mysterious $100,000 note cancelled after the empire builders' death. Several notes of widows for small amounts were filed.

Beside the rail baron's $53,000,000 securities listed, there were $50,550,000 rail holdings, chief of which were $20,000,000 in the Great Northern.

Coal Prices to Soar

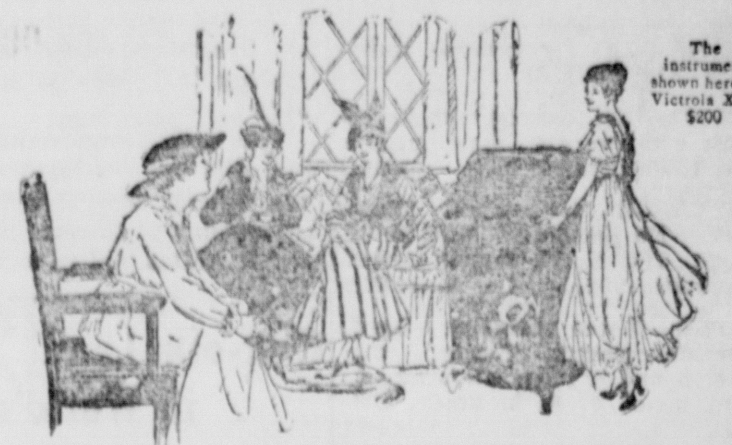

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 7.—With 2,600,000 tons less coal in Duluth docks than the average ten year consumption, dealers today refused to comment on the probability of a coal famine through the northwest, where temperatures reach 40 and 50 degrees below zero. It is certain, however, that coal prices will soar, despite a reported federal investigation to start in St. Paul on coal prices.

Sugar and flour joined coal on the upward tendency today. With wholesale sugar quotations opening today at $7.45, an advance of ten cents in 24 hours and 60 cents in 30 days are shown. Retailers think a sugar corner is being affected. Flour at retail hit $9.50 today, an advance of 60 cents this week.

Back to Slates

New York, Oct. 7.—Harking back to the days of the little red school house by the way side, New York authorities are considering installing slates and slate pencils in the city schools. High price of paper is the reason.

Will Celebrate Marne Anniversaries

BY HENRY WOOD, (United Press Staff Correspondent.) Paris, Sept. 22 (By Mail).—Taxi-cab drivers of Paris will hereafter observe all future anniversaries of the Battle of the Marne by flying the tri-color of France from their mast-heads—or rather, from the top of their machines.

The custom, inaugurated this year for the first time, in honor of the thousand odd drivers who, under the orders of General Gallieni, carried the re-enforcements to General Maunoy that made the victory of the Marne a certainty, proved so popular that its permanent observance was at once decided upon.

This was rendered all the more advisable by the fact that of the thousand odd chauffeurs who participated in the memorable feat, only a few still remain in active service at Paris. Hundreds were later mobilized, others died, still others departed, till the number has become so reduced that the definite observance was decided upon to prevent memory of the accomplishment from dying out.

The original thousand drivers were cited to the order of the day before the French armies for their dead, and this fact their successors for all time to come, will endeavor to keep before the public on all future anniversaries of the battle of the Marne.

John Breten, one of the few of the original thousand, who still drives a taxi at Paris, has just given to the United Press the following interview of the memorable day, from the taxi-cab driver's point of view:

"It was a little after noon," says John, "that the police began stopping us, ordering us to dump out passengers forthwith, without the formality of collecting either the fare or the tip due us, and to report immediately to our depots. There we were to receive full supplies of petrol and instructions."

"When the policeman stopped me, I had not eaten since my morning roll and coffee, but what did the policeman care about that, or about the fact that I was not to have a bit of anything to eat for another thirty-six hours with the exception of a biscuit that I wheedled out of a poor old woman at Lagay. And all in the meantime my blessed wife at home thinking sure I was dead, and the situation not being improved upon my return by my inability to tell her where I'd been for we all had to take an oath not to tell a soul what we had done or seen."

"They gave me ten dollars for my first fare, three on the seat beside me and seven inside. And what a sad load. During the whole trip, through the dark, with a stream of taxicabs ahead of me, and another one behind, not a one of those soldiers ever offered me a word or a smile, or cracked a joke amongst themselves. But they were real men all right all right—grave, resolved, knowing fully what was going to be asked of them, but ready to risk and give all.

"I landed them where I had been ordered and hurried back to Paris with the rest of my pals for a fresh load. It was just the same as the first—not a word from any of them. Ah, that silence through the long hours of the night was terrible, and if I lived a hundred years I would never forget that ride, nor the appetite I had after eating only one biscuit in 48 hours, nor the berating I got from good old wife when my oath prevented me telling her anything about it."

ASSOCIATED CHARITIES

Annual Meeting of the Advisory Board Was Held at the Chamber of Commerce Rooms

THE ELECTION OF OFFICERS

B. J. Broady President, W. B. Lear Secretary, Report on Work Accomplished by Association

Officers of Associated Charities

- President—B. J. Broady.
- Vice President—Mrs. J. A. Thabes.
- Treasurer—J. S. Robertson.
- Secretary—W. B. Lear.
- Visitors—Mrs. Amy J. Bertram and Mrs. Henry Thelvet.

The annual meeting of the advisory board of the Associated Charities has been rather limited during the past six months due to the fact that with the coming of summer the calls for aid became less frequent.

Work also has been comparatively plentiful and conditions generally have been good, so that many have been able to earn their own support.

However, the members of the executive committee have furnished considerable relief during the summer in the way of clothing and provisions and have collected clothing and shoes in anticipation of the calls for these things during the coming winter.

Miss Puckering, our visiting nurse, has done efficient work among the poor of the city and has found her time pretty well taken up answering the numerous calls for her services and in rendering assistance to the visitors of this association. Miss Puckering also rendered valuable service in conducting the "Baby Welfare" campaign.

Early in May the Associated Charities held a "Baby Welfare Week" which we believe was a success and has resulted in spreading abroad such useful information relative to the proper care and development of those who are to be our future citizens.

The financial condition of the association is not very good just at present, due to the fact of the heavy disbursements incident to the "Baby Welfare" campaign and to the poor response to our appeal for contributions from affiliated organizations.

To offset this we are planning on holding a tax day in the near future and hope to increase our funds so as to handle the increased demands which will no doubt fall upon the association with the coming of winter.

During the past six months the receipts from all sources were $60.77, while the disbursements for the same period were $540.84, of this amount the sum of $93.99 was spent in connection with the "Baby Welfare Week."

The association begins its new year with a balance of $315.27 in its treasury.

VISITING NURSE

Miss Rachel Puckering Reports on Work Accomplished in Ten Months

Miss Rachel Puckering, visiting nurse of the city, in her report covering work from December, 1915, to Sept. 30, 1916, made a total number of 1119 visits.

There were 239 baby visits, 122 poverty calls, 116 visits of inquiry and investigation, 376 on sickness, 141 school visits, 38 prenatal, 8 committee meetings, 16 "Baby Welfare Week" committee meetings, 63 calls of various nature.

PRAISES FOR SECRETARY

Resolution Adopted by Commercial Club of Thief River Falls Regarding Frederick T. Lincoln

The following resolution was unanimously adopted by directors of the Commercial club of Thief River Falls on October 5:

Resolved—In closing the last chapter of the administration of our esteemed secretary, Frederick T. Lincoln, we, the directors and executive board, of the Thief River Falls Commercial club, claim it as a privilege and pleasure to say a few words in commendation, recommendation and appreciation.

Mr. Lincoln came to our club two years ago, accepting here, among strangers, his first assignment of this character, with a newly organized association. The club and secretary were without experience. While this had some advantages, it also presented problems and complications. Mr. Lincoln, through his own initiative and genius for organization took this cumbersome body, arranged the committees, outlined the working plans, directed the movement of each and every activity, kept up the social life of the club, pushed the business interests, directed new plans, brought meetings to the club rooms and conventions to the city, assisted the fair association, the city council, the Woman's club—in fact, kept himself in close and indispensable association with all the organizations and business institutions of the city at all times.

During all this time, as secretary of the club, he has sent out to dozens of daily and weekly papers, periodicals and magazines, publicity of a high character, articles on the country and town, about the land, the country's resources, its relations and value.

As a publicity man, Mr. Lincoln has had a wide range of experience. While his natural ability as an organizer of forces, and his administrative ability make him an exceedingly valuable man, we appreciate more than any other thing the way he has put our city on the map, and we know his publicity work alone has been worth much more than we have paid him in salary.

We have appreciated that Mr. Lincoln during his stay with us was only "on the way." We are glad if we have helped in any way to promote his interests. We commend him to his new associates, and assure them they will find their new secretary a competent, energetic and conscientious official.

SPECIAL NOTICE

The officers and members of Alpha Chapter No. 23, Order of Eastern Star are asked to take note of the following:

A regular communication will be held on Monday at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of regular business and initiation.

This will be followed by a program of music and lunch will be served. All members are asked to be present.

The officers are requested to be present at 7:30.

TODAY'S NORTHWEST ODDITY

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 7.—The old junk man was today blamed for the high cost of paper. Dealers in this great paper producing state explained that when Europeans started throwing so much metal at each other, the demand here for metal became high and junk men began gathering old iron rather than rags. High grade papers are made from rags. Shortage of them forced up better grades of paper. The high cost of print paper and poorer grades of paper is explained. Some dealers thought it went up in sympathy.

DEVELOPMENTS OF WEEK ON RANGE

Story of Hans Anderson and the Fortune He Acquired on Range Reads Like Romance

THE CROFT MINE ON HIS FARM

Much Drilling at Barrows and Mangane, Progress Made in Shaft Sinking There

A history of Hans Anderson, mine owner at Crosby, reads like a romance. Anderson bought his farm twenty years ago from the Northern Pacific railway company and acquired complete title at $3 an acre. Then followed years of hard labor. He hung on to his property. Iron was discovered and made him a rich man and he built a luxurious home on the shore of Serpent lake next door to George H. Crosby's "Hickory Lodge" in the town of Crosby. On some of his land is located the Croft mine, now shipping ore. On another forty drilling is under way, the land being the southwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 2, township 26, range 29.

Work at the Rowley mine at Barrows is proceeding well. Senator C. B. Buckman, of Little Falls, is reported as figuring on sinking a shaft on his ground near Barrows. Drilling is still going on at the Buckman property. A new drill has been spotted east of Barrows in section 10, just north of the Northern Pacific railway tracks.

The Merritt shaft is now down about 40 feet. The McKinney shaft is down about 55 feet. The latter is better known as the Flynn property at Mangane.

The Ferro mine and the Hoch mine, both near Mangane, are shipping steadily. About a dozen drills are operating close to the town of Mangane and rich ore strikes are reported.

Prison Uplift

St. Paul, Oct. 7.—Several hundred persons interested in prison uplift, leave this evening for Buffalo, N. Y., to attend the National Prisons congress there next week.

Every member of the state board of control, the state visiting board and other state officials are expected to make the trip.

Retain Military Status

St. Paul, Oct. 7.—Members and officials of Battery E, University militia units, will retain their military status, Adj. Gen. F. B. Wood was officially informed today. Fear that the unit would lose because of its being withdrawn from the border was thus dissipated.

To Disport in Snow

St. Paul, Oct. 7.—Business men want everybody in the United States to disport in St. Paul's snow, when the thermometer stands at 31 below next January. Minnesotans gaily bedecked in costumes symbolic of winter, frolicked around in ice and snow last January and seemed to enjoy it. Now Charles Patterson, booster from the St. Paul Outdoor Winter Sport Carnival, wants to make the affair national, with headquarters in every state capital, and special arrangements made for state delegations all over the United States.

Louis W. Hill, president of the Great Northern railroad and the carnival association, sanctions the idea.

Hill $100,000,000 Estate

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 7.—Louis W. Hill today legally passed into control of the $100,000,000 estate of his father, James J. Hill, builder and practical owner of the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Burlington railways. The inventory of the estate was filed in probate court yesterday. Hill died several months ago.

Securities valued at $53,900,000, include holdings in the First National bank, New York, $4,100,000; Case National bank, New York, $1,000,000; Illinois Trust Company, Chicago, $500,000; First National bank, Chicago, $500,000; notes on allies governments of Europe, $1,500,000; other personal holdings include a million dollar art collection are local. Relatives refused to comment on a mysterious $100,000 note cancelled after the empire builders death. Several notes of widows for small amounts were filed.

Beside the rail baron's $53,000,000 securities listed, there were $50,550,000 rail holdings, chief of which were $20,000,000 in the Great Northern.

Coal Prices to Soar

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 7.—With 2,000,000 tons less coal in Duluth docks than the average ten year consumption, dealers today refused to comment on the probability of a coal famine through the northwest, where temperatures reach 40 and 50 degrees below zero. It is certain, however, that coal prices will soar, despite a reported federal investigation to start in St. Paul on coal prices.

Sugar and flour joined coal on the upward tendency today. With wholesale sugar quotations opening today at $7.45, an advance of ten cents in 24 hours and 50 cents in 30 days are shown. Retailers think a sugar corner is being affected. Flour at retail hit $9.50 today, an advance of 60 cents this week.

Back to Slates

New York, Oct. 7.—Harking back to the days of the little red school house by the way side, New York authorities are considering installing slates and slate pencils in the city schools. High price of paper is the reason.

Will Celebrate Marne Anniversaries

BY HENRY WOOD.

(United Press Staff Correspondent.) Paris, Sept. 22 (By Mail).—Taxi-cab drivers of Paris will hereafter observe all future anniversaries of the Battle of the Marne by flying the tri-color of France from their rooftops—or rather, from the top of their machines.

The custom, inaugurated this year for the first time, in honor of the thousand odd drivers who, under the orders of General Gallieni, carried the reinforcements to General Maunory that made the victory of the Marne a certainty, proved so popular that its permanent observance was at once decided upon.

This was rendered all the more advisable by the fact that of the thousand and odd chauffeurs who participated in the memorable feat, only a few still remain in active service at Paris. Hundreds were later mobilized, others died, still others departed, till the number has become so reduced that the definite observance was decided upon to prevent memory of the accomplishment from dying out.

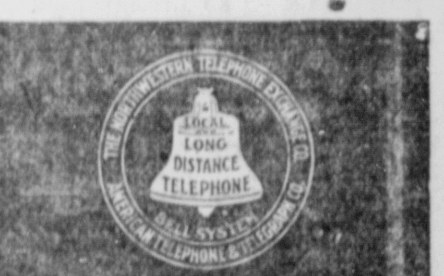

The original thousand drivers were cited to the order of the day before the French armies for their deed, and this fact their successors for all time to come, will endeavor to keep before the public on all future anniversaries of the battle of the Marne.

John Breten, one of the few of the original thousand, who still drives a taxi at Paris, has just given to the United Press the following interview of the memorable day, from the taxi-driver's point of view:

"It was a little after noon," says John, "that the police began stopping us, ordering us to dump out our passengers forthwith, without the formality of collecting either the fare or the tip due us, and to report immediately to our depots. There we were to receive full supplies of petrol and instructions."

"When the policeman stopped me, I had not eaten since my morning roll and coffee, but what did the policeman care about that, or about the fact that I was not to have a bit of anything to eat for another thirty-six hours with the exception of a biscuit that I wheedled out of a poor old woman at Lagny. And all in the meantime my blessed wife at home thinking sure I was dead, and the situation not being improved upon my return by my inability to tell her where I'd been for we all had to take an oath not to tell a soul what we had done or seen."

"They gave me ten dollars for my first fare, three on the seat beside me and seven inside. And what a sad

load. During the whole trip, through the dark, with a stream of taxicabs ahead of me, and another one behind, not a one of those soldiers ever offered me a word or a smile, or cracked a joke amongst themselves. But they were real men all right all right—grave, resolved, knowing fully what was going to be asked of them, but ready to risk and give all.

"I handed them where I had been ordered and hurried back to Paris with the rest of my pals for a fresh load. It was just the same as the first—not a word from any of them. All that silence through the long hours of the night was terrible, and if I lived a hundred years I would never forget that ride, nor the appetite I had after eating only one biscuit in 48 hours, nor the berating I got from good old wife when my oath prevented me telling her anything about it."

Cast-offs Land in World's Series

BY HAMILTON,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

New York, Oct. 7.—Another bunch of castoffs are getting their faces ready for a loud, hearty laugh at the castersoff.

Fred Merkle, Chief Meyers and Rube Marquard are going to have the chuckle of their lives when the world's series is over and they have time to think how they were kicked off a team they had helped win several National league championships. Aiding them in their guffaws will be Mike Mowrey, Larry Cheney and Jack Coombs.

Every one of these players was adjudged "done" some time ago. The props were knocked from under Meyers and Marquard by John McGraw in 1915. Meyers finished the season with the Giants, but Rube drifted to Robinson at the waiver price while the 1915 Giants still were struggling toward a lamentable finish.

"Had to break up the old team," said McGraw when he traded Marke for Lew McCarty last August. Fred is going to get some more of that world's series dough when the Dodgers and Red Sox get together.

Jack Coombs drew his unconditional release in 1914 when Connie Mack picked up his trusty axe and began separating his Athletics from their Philadelphia jobs. Jack landed in Brooklyn and there never was a more sensational comeback than he has shown the Brooklyn fans. Quite a nice little thing for his declining days will be his slice at the world's series cash.

Mowrey, wayward though he was, is back with the gang. He never had a chance at world's series money before, but he's ready to take a pocketful this year after having been dropped by St. Louis and Pittsburgh. Mike is quite a discard, they claim in Brooklyn.

In Boston Jack Barry is going to hold the distinction this year of being the only player who ever took part in six world's series. Jack was sold by Connie Mack back in 1915 and had a split in the receipts of the last big games. He was a big factor in winning pennants in Philadelphia when with the old Athletics.

Jimmy Walsh also is going to taste the fruits of being transferred from the Athletics. Walsh now is drawing a Red Sox pay check and will draw one from the national commission when the title games have been played.

U. of Minn. Meets South Dakota

By C. D. HUBBARD
United Press Staff Correspondent

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 7.—Minnesota university's football season was officially opened today, when South Dakota state college gridiron tumbler met Coach Williams Gopher battlers.

This afternoon's game was merely the sixth day of this week's grilling of the Gophers for the conference games that will start two weeks later "Doc" Williams had personally put his men through strenuous practice this week, and they were fit and frisky when the referees whistle started the fire works. Today was the first time the majority of Minnesota fans saw their football heroes. In four out of the five practices in the past, gates to the field were locked and guarded, with a guard on the fence for emphasis.

The visitors had a formidable aggregation that romped out onto the field this afternoon, thumping a pair of pigskins before them, to the striding air of band music.

Sandy Hamilton was not in the line this afternoon. Gophers had depended much upon Sandy for a punter. Because he was at the Mexican border with the Minnesota militia this summer, he couldn't make up scholastic deficiencies. Hence the eligibility board applied the skids. Doc Williams don't talk, but lip twitching indicated he agrees with Sherman on war.

MUNITION MAKER IS THREATENED

Told Death Will Follow Filling of Shell Contract.

CHILDREN ARE TO DIE FIRST

Family of St. Paul Manufacturer to Be Exterminated if His Firm Carries Out $3,000,000 Contracts With Allied Governments, Missive Says.

St. Paul, Oct. 7.—Mrs. August F. Osterland, wife of the president of the Osterland Printing Press and Manufacturing company, has turned over to United States postal authorities a letter she received threatening her family with death if her husband carried out the contract he has to supply the allied governments with munitions.

The letter, the only signature to which was a skull and crossbones, was written with a pencil in German script.

Firm Has $3,000,000 Contract.

Announcement was made recently that the Osterland firm had closed contracts aggregating $3,000,000 to supply the British and Russian governments with munitions to be manufactured in the old state prison at Stillwater. The missive reads:

"We note by the papers that the concern of which your husband is president is furnishing war materials to England and Russia. We warn him through you if the contracts are carried out and you think you will enjoy the blood money that your husband will make out of the profits you are mistaken. You and your family are doomed to death. If you have children they will have to die first."

"An Eye for An Eye."

"We have a collection of American bullets and your husband will be made to understand how German parents feel to have their children killed through your murderous assistance. An eye for eye; a tooth for a tooth."

Although Mrs. Osterland was almost hysterical with fright, her husband asserted that the letter was the work of a fanatic and refused to share his wife's alarm.

"Thousands of others are making munitions for the allies," he said. "Why was an innocent woman singled out for an attack when the East teems with munition plants? Why not attack the Duponts, Schwab and the others?"

"Personally, I do not care for the munitions business," he continued. "I would rather make high-grade machinery for commercial purposes, but the majority of the stockholders of the company decided to accept the contracts with the allied governments, and we will carry them out."

KIDNAPED MAN KILLS GUARD AND ESCAPES

Steamboat Springs, Colo., Oct. 7.—An attempt to procure $15,000 ransom by kidnapping R. M. Perry, manager of the Moffa coal mine at Oak Creek, was frustrated when Perry seized a revolver from one of his captors and shot him dead, according to J. C. Frye, sheriff, who with Perry and a posse began pursuit of others of the band.

According to reports here, Perry freed himself from the ropes with which he was tied, procured the revolver from his guard and killed him. Perry made his way to a ranch house from which he telephoned. The message was garbled, however, and its source could not be determined before communication failed.

JOINT COMMISSION TIED UP

Mexican-American Conference Unable to Agree.

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 7.—When the members of the Mexican-American joint commission finished their conferences for the week they still were unable to announce an agreement on any plan for border control.

Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior, acting as spokesman for the others, said that aside from stating that the time had been taken up in further consideration of the various suggested plans for border control nothing could be told of the commission's work.

When the commissioners meet Monday, Major General Tasker H. Bliss, assistant chief of staff of the American army, who was summoned to New London to confer with the American members of the commission, is expected to be here.

Chicago Packer Announces Company Will Divide Its Profits.

SWIFT COMPANY IS TO DIVIDE SURPLUS

Chicago, Oct. 7.—Directors of Swift & Co., who recently increased the wages of the firm's various packing plants 2 1/2 cents an hour, announced here that a portion of the surplus accumulated by the company will be distributed among the shareholders. In making the announcement Louis F. Swift, president of the company, said: "A portion of the surplus earned in the past twenty-three years is to be distributed among 20,000 shareholders by the declaration of a cash dividend of $33.33 per share of shareholders of record Oct. 16, payable Nov. 25."

MOB FREES JESTER AND DESTROYS JAIL

Wichita, Kan., Oct. 7.—A mob of 1,000 citizens ran Marshal Crowe and his three deputies out of Augusta, an oil town twenty miles east of here, wrecked the city jail and liberated six prisoners held on petty charges.

The mob resented the arrest of several prominent citizens on charges of violating traffic ordinances because the citizens said the rough streets made it impossible to follow the ordinary rules of the road.

When William Peel, candidate for the legislature, rode down Main street on a white horse with a lantern held behind him the jest delighted the crowd on the street, but angered the officers.

Peel's arrest caused a mob to form and a proposal to wreck the jail gained ready attention.

After the structure had been damaged beyond immediate use, the crowd marched to Mayor Weidlein's home to demand the discharge of the police force, but the mayor could not be found.

DRUMMERS PAIRED WITH RAILROAD MEN

St. Paul, Oct. 7.—Both the railroad trainmen and the traveling salesmen in Minnesota are preparing to vote this year, whether they are at home or not.

Both in large numbers are calling on the secretary of state for information regarding the absent voters' blanks or for information concerning them.

Section 468 of the Minnesota election law provides that where a voter is registered in his home precinct he may obtain from the judges of election in his home district a certificate which will entitle him to vote wherever he may be, after he has presented his certificate to the judges of election in the precinct where he is a visitor and has been identified by two legal voters as the rightful holder of the certificate.

ON TRIAL FOR KILLING WIFE

Insanity Will Be Former Mayor's Murder Trial Plea.

Wallace, Ida., Oct. 7.—That temporary insanity would be the defense in the trial of Herman J. Rossi, former mayor of Wallace and prominent business man, accused of the murder here last June of Clarence Dahlquist, was indicated in the examination of jurors by counsel for Rossi.

The shooting grew out of Dahlquist's alleged intimacy with Mrs. Rossi.

American Bank Offers Aid.

Dublin, Oct. 7.—The corporation of Dublin is arranging for a special meeting to consider an offer by the National City bank of New York to make a loan of £1,000,000 to the city for rebuilding and housing operations.

ISLAND POSSESSIONS DEMAND FARM LOANS

Washington, Oct. 7.—Indications that an effort will be made at the forthcoming session of congress to extend the federal farm loan act to the island possessions of the United States and to Alaska was given in a petition filed with the federal farm loan board by Edwin C. Moore of Hawaii.

The petition asserts that the need for the law is greater in Hawaii than in the United States; that the Hawaiian farmers are suffering from excessive interest rates, short time loans and a disinclination of the banks to make farm loans at all.

It also stated that as the land is almost wholly agricultural, an extension of the act to it would aid greatly in its Americanization, "through the success of the citizen farmer."

Hearings by the federal farm loan board to gather information for its guidance in dividing the country into districts and locating the twelve farm loan banks created by the rural credit act will be resumed in a few days.

LINER SINKS BRITISH SHIP

Steamer City of Norfolk Rams Freight-er Hawkhead in Hampton Roads.

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 7.—The British steamer Hawkhead, at anchor in Hampton Roads off Sewall's point, was run down and sunk by the Chesapeake Steamship company's Bay Line steamer City of Norfolk, outward bound from this port for Baltimore with nearly 100 passengers.

The City of Norfolk was damaged, but there was no loss of life so far as is known. The collision occurred during a heavy fog.

Fifteen minutes after being struck the British ship had settled on the bottom in thirty feet of water.

Small Girl Shoots Father.

St. Louis, Oct. 7.—Ursula Broderick, ten years old, took a revolver out of her father's pocket and shot him as he was threatening to kill his wife with a hammer. The father, Thomas Broderick, was dangerously wounded. The mother and child told the police that the father was jealous and had quarreled with his wife.

Six Blackmailers Indicted.

New York, Oct. 7.—Five men and a woman were indicted here in the federal grand jury investigation into the operations of the "white slave blackmailing syndicate." They are charged with blackmailing Edward R. West, vice president of a tea and coffee company of this city and Chicago, out of $15,000.

British Transport Sunk.

London, Oct. 7.—The Cunarder Franconia has been sunk by a submarine in the Mediterranean. She was used in transport service, but there were no troops aboard. The Franconia was 625 feet long, 72 feet wide and displaced 25,000 tons.

BRITAIN ANXIOUS FOR SWEDE PACT

Cecil Replies to Recent Statement of Hammarcksjold.

SAYS BLACKLIST IS REGULAR

England's War Trade Minister Declares for Renewal of Trade Agreement and Friendly Relations—Asks No Favors From Neutrals.

London, Oct. 7.—"We are anxious to restore to its old footing the ancient friendship and commercial intercourse between the two countries," Lord Robert Cecil, minister of war trade, declared in an interview in which he replied to the recent statement of Premier Hammarcksjold of Sweden.

To the assertion of the Swedish premier that Great Britain is arbitrarily limiting the imports into Sweden, Lord Roberts said that Great Britain always has been and now is ready to enter into fresh negotiations for a trade agreement with Sweden, in which case allowances would be made for all of Sweden's requirements, which, he admitted, are greater now than before the war, owing to the development of her industries.

Violates No Rule.

The minister of war trade declared incidentally that the British blacklist violates no rule or law of equity.

After saying that he was glad to read the premier's statement that Sweden's actions had been dictated solely by that kingdom's own necessities and future welfare, and not for any partisan reasons, Lord Robert said:

"We ask no favors from neutrals. But we do ask that they should not hinder our belligerent rights in the life or death struggle which we and our allies are waging."

"The prime minister says that he is in harmony with the American protest against the blacklist, but I observe with some surprise that he makes no allusion to his attitude concerning the American protest against German submarine atrocities, surely a far graver matter for neutrals."

RUSSIAN PLAN STIRS INTEREST IN CAPITAL

Washington, Oct. 7.—Much interest was aroused here by the announcement from an authentic source that Russia plans to send 1,000,000 Russian Poles to form colonies in various South American countries.

Several months ago a Russian commission en route to South America came to Washington for letters of introduction. It presented letters from Hudson Maxim and Senator O'Gorman. It received letters to South American personages from John Barrett, director of the pan-American union.

On arriving in South America the commission split into three groups.

One, composed of Joseph Dalinda, publisher of a financial paper in Petrograd, and Marc Bounimovitch, a Petrograd banker, went to the capital of Venezuela, where they are conducting the negotiations.

It developed the chief object of their visit is to obtain the sanction of the Venezuelan government to sending over Russian Poles to be settled on agricultural and grazing lands.

BARS RUMMAGE SALES TO CHECK POLIO.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—Rummage sales are to be barred in Evanston, a suburb of Chicago, as a step in the prevention of infantile paralysis. Dr. C. T. Roome, health commissioner, has issued a ruling to that effect.

CHEERFUL WOMEN

Despondency is a thing of evil origin and evil results. Worry produces nothing but wrinkles and wretchedness. Let the reader put up a little note on her bureau, on her desk, and at the head of her bed, just two words, don't worry. Worry is the greatest foe to the happiness of any household. An anxious, despondent face, a fretful, complaining voice, will make every one uncomfortable.

A woman's nerves are more truly the cause of worry than outside troubles. The nerves are of a woman's body the telegraph system, which surely warns her of any trouble in the feminine make-up.

Dr. Pierce, during a long period of practice, found that a prescription made with glycerine, entirely of roots and herbs, without the use of alcohol, cured over ninety per cent. of such cases. After using this remedy for many years in his private practice he put it up in a form that would make it easily procurable.

Women are earnestly advised to take it for irregular or painful periods, backache, headache, displacement, catarrhal condition, hot flashes, sallow complexion and nervousness.

For girls about to enter womanhood, women about to become mothers, and for the changing days of middle age Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription should always be on hand. In liquid or tablet form.

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a glass of Salts before breakfast if your Back hurts or Bladder is troubling you.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

Cast-offs Land in World's Series

BY HAMILTON,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

New York, Oct. 7.—Another bunch of castoffs are getting their faces ready for a loud, hearty laugh at the castersoff.

Fred Merkle, Chief Meyers and Rube Marquard are going to have the chuckle of their lives when the world's series is over and they have time to think how they were kicked off a team they had helped win several National league championships. Aiding them in their guffaws will be Mike Mowrey, Larry Cheney and Jack Coombs.

Every one of these players was adjudged "done" some time ago. The props were knocked down under Meyers and Marquard by John McGraw in 1915. Meyers finished the season with the Giants, but Rube drifted to Robinson at the waiver price while the 1915 Giants still were struggling toward a lamentable finish.

"Had to break up the old team," said McGraw when he traded Marquard for Lew McCarty last August. Fred is going to get some more of that world's series dough when the Dodgers and Red Sox get together.

Jack Coombs drew his unconditional release in 1914 when Connie Mack picked up his trusty axe and began separating his Athletics from their Philadelphia jobs. Jack landed in Brooklyn and there never was a more sensational comeback than he has shown the Brooklyn fans. Quite a nice little thing for his declining days will be his slice at the world's series cash.

Mowrey, wayward though he was, is back with the gang. He never had a chance at world's series money before, but he's ready to take a pocketful this year after having been dropped by St. Louis and Pittsburgh. Mike is quite a discard, they claim in Brooklyn.

In Boston Jack Barry is going to hold the distinction this year of being the only player who ever took part in six world's series. Jack was sold by Connie Mack back in 1915 and had a split in the receipts of the last big games. He was a big factor in winning pennants in Philadelphia when with the old Athletics.

Jimmy Walsh also is going to taste the fruits of being transferred from the Athletics. Walsh now is drawing a Red Sox pay check and will draw one from the national commission when the title games have been played.

U. of Minn. Meets South Dakota

By C. D. HUBBARD
United Press Staff Correspondent

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 7.—Minnesota university's football season was officially opened today, when South Dakota state college gridiron tumbler met Coach Williams Gopher battlers.

This afternoon's game was merely the sixth day of this week's grilling of the Gophers for the conference games that will start two weeks later "Doc" Williams had personally put his men through strenuous practice this week, and they were fit and frisky when the referees whistle started the fire works. Today was the first time the majority of Minnesota fans saw their football heroes. In four out of the five practices in the past, gates to the field were locked and guarded, with a guard on the fence for emphasis.

The visitors had a formidable aggregation that romped out onto the field this afternoon, thumping a pair of pigskins before them, to the stirring air of band music.

Sandy Hamilton was not in the line this afternoon. Gophers had depended much upon Sandy for a punter. Because he was at the Mexican border with the Minnesota militia this summer, he couldn't make up scholastic deficiencies. Hence the eligibility board applied the skids. Doc Williams don't talk, but lip twitching indicated he agrees with Sherman on war.

MUNITION MAKER IS THREATENED

Told Death Will Follow Filling of Shell Contract.

CHILDREN ARE TO DIE FIRST

Family of St. Paul Manufacturer to Be Exterminated if His Firm Carries Out $3,000,000 Contracts With Allied Governments, Missive Says.

St. Paul, Oct. 7.—Mrs. August F. Osterland, wife of the president of the Osterland Printing Press and Manufacturing company, has turned over to United States postal authorities a letter she received threatening her family with death if her husband carried out the contract he has to supply the allied governments with munitions.

The letter, the only signature to which was a skull and crossbones, was written with a pencil in German script.

Firm Has $3,000,000 Contract.

Announcement was made recently that the Osterland firm had closed contracts aggregating $3,000,000 to supply the British and Russian governments with munitions to be manufactured in the old state prison at Stillwater. The missive reads:

"We note by the papers that the concern of which your husband is president is furnishing war materials to England and Russia. We warn him through you if the contracts are carried out and you think you will enjoy the blood money that your husband will make out of the profits you are mistaken. You and your family are doomed to death. If you have children they will have to die first."

"An Eye for An Eye."

"We have a collection of American bullets and your husband will be made to understand how German parents feel to have their children killed through your murderous assistance. An eye for eye; a tooth for a tooth." Although Mrs. Osterland was almost hysterical with fright, her husband asserted that the letter was the work of a fanatic and refused to share his wife's alarm.

"Thousands of others are making munitions for the allies," he said. "Why was an innocent woman singled out for an attack when the East teems with munition plants? Why not attack the Duponts, Schwab and the others?"

"Personally, I do not care for the munitions business," he continued. "I would rather make high-grade machinery for commercial purposes, but the majority of the stockholders of the company decided to accept the contracts with the allied governments, and we will carry them out."

KIDNAPED MAN KILLS GUARD AND ESCAPES

Steamboat Springs, Colo., Oct. 7.—An attempt to procure $15,000 ransom by kidnapping R. M. Perry, manager of the Moffa coal mine at Oak Creek, was frustrated when Perry seized a revolver from one of his captors and shot him dead, according to J. C. Frye, sheriff, who with Perry and a posse began pursuit of others of the band.

According to reports here, Perry freed himself from the ropes with which he was tied, procured the revolver from his guard and killed him. Perry made his way to a ranch house from which he telephoned. The message was garbled, however, and its source could not be determined before communication failed.

JOINT COMMISSION TIED UP

Mexican-American Conference Unable to Agree.

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 7.—When the members of the Mexican-American joint commission finished their conferences for the week they still were unable to announce an agreement on any plan for border control.

Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior, acting as spokesman for the others, said that aside from stating that the time had been taken up in further consideration of the various suggested plans for border control nothing could be told of the commission's work.

When the commissioners meet Monday, Major General Tasker H. Bliss, assistant chief of staff of the American army, who was summoned to New London to confer with the American members of the commission, is expected to be here.

1,000 Porto Rico Workers Strike.

San Juan, Porto Rico, Oct. 7.—Shipping here is tied up by a strike of 1,000 harbor and dock laborers who were joined by the cartmen. All demand higher wages.

Bank Robbers Get $6,000.

Streator, Ill., Oct. 7.—Robbers dynamited the State bank in Rutland, near here, escaping with $6,000.

LOUIS F. SWIFT.

Chicago Packer Announces Company Will Divide Its Profits.

SWIFT COMPANY IS TO DIVIDE SURPLUS

Chicago, Oct. 7.—Directors of Swift & Co., who recently increased the wages of the firm's various packing plants 2 1/2 cents an hour, announced here that a portion of the surplus accumulated by the company will be distributed among the shareholders. In making the announcement Louis F. Swift president of the company, said: "A portion of the surplus earned in the past twenty-three years is to be distributed among 20,000 shareholders by the declaration of a cash dividend of $3.33 per share of shareholders of record Oct. 16, payable Nov. 25."

MOB FREES JESTER AND DESTROYS JAIL

Wichita, Kan., Oct. 7.—A mob of 1,000 citizens ran Marshal Crowe and his three deputies out of Augusta, an oil town twenty miles east of here, wrecked the city jail and liberated six prisoners held on petty charges.

The mob resented the arrest of several prominent citizens on charges of violating traffic ordinances because the citizens said the rough streets made it impossible to follow the ordinary rules of the road.

When William Peel, candidate for the legislature, rode down Main street on a white horse with a lantern held behind him the jest delighted the crowd on the street, but angered the officers.

Peel's arrest caused a mob to form and a proposal to wreck the jail gained ready attention.

After the structure had been damaged beyond immediate use, the crowd marched to Mayor Weidlein's home to demand the discharge of the police force, but the mayor could not be found.

DRUMMERS PAIRED WITH RAILROAD MEN

St. Paul, Oct. 7.—Both the railroad trainmen and the traveling salesmen in Minnesota are preparing to vote this year, whether they are at home or not.

Both in large numbers are calling on the secretary of state for information regarding the absent voters' blanks or for information concerning them.

Section 463 of the Minnesota election law provides that where a voter is registered in his home precinct he may obtain from the judges of election in his home district a certificate which will entitle him to vote wherever he may be, after he has presented his certificate to the judges of election in the precinct where he is a visitor and has been identified by two legal voters as the rightful holder of the certificate.

ON TRIAL FOR KILLING WIFE

Insanity Will Be Former Mayor's Murder Trial Plea.

Wallace, Ida., Oct. 7.—That temporary insanity would be the defense in the trial of Herman J. Rossi, former mayor of Wallace and prominent business man, accused of the murder here last June of Clarence Dahlquist, was indicated in the examination of jurors by counsel for Rossi.

The shooting grew out of Dahlquist's alleged intimacy with Mrs. Rossi.

American Bank Offers Aid.

Dublin, Oct. 7.—The corporation of Dublin is arranging for a special meeting to consider an offer by the National City bank of New York to make a loan of $1,000,000 to the city for rebuilding and housing operations.

ISLAND POSSESSIONS DEMAND FARM LOANS

Washington, Oct. 7.—Indications that an effort will be made at the forthcoming session of congress to extend the federal farm loan act to the island possessions of the United States and to Alaska was given in a petition filed with the federal farm loan board by Edwin C. Moore of Hawaii.

The petition asserts that the need for the law is greater in Hawaii than in the United States; that the Hawaiian farmers are suffering from excessive interest rates, short time loans and a disinclination of the banks to make farm loans at all.

It also stated that as the land is almost wholly agricultural, an extension of the act to it would aid greatly in its Americanization, "through the success of the citizen farmer."

Hearings by the federal farm loan board to gather information for its guidance in dividing the country into districts and locating the twelve farm loan banks created by the rural credit act will be resumed in a few days.

LINER SINKS BRITISH SHIP

Steamer City of Norfolk Rams Freight-er Hawkhead in Hampton Roads.

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 7.—The British steamer Hawkhead, at anchor in Hampton Roads off Sewall's point, was run down and sunk by the Chesapeake Steamship company's Bay Line steamer City of Norfolk, outward bound from this port for Baltimore with nearly 100 passengers.

The City of Norfolk was damaged, but there was no loss of life so far as is known. The collision occurred during a heavy fog.

Fifteen minutes after being struck the British ship had settled on the bottom in thirty feet of water.

Small Girl Shoots Father.

St. Louis, Oct. 7.—Ursula Broderick, ten years old, took a revolver out of her father's pocket and shot him as he was threatening to kill his wife with a hammer. The father, Thomas Broderick, was dangerously wounded. The mother and child told the police that the father was jealous and had quarreled with his wife.

Six Blackmailers Indicted.

New York, Oct. 7.—Five men and one woman were indicted here in the federal grand jury investigation into the operations of the "white slave blackmailing syndicate." They are charged with blackmailing Edward R. West, vice president of a tea and coffee company of this city and Chicago, out of $15,000.

British Transport Sunk.

London, Oct. 7.—The Cunarder Franconia has been sunk by a submarine in the Mediterranean. She was used in transport service, but there were no troops aboard. The Franconia was 625 feet long, 72 feet wide and displaced 25,000 tons.

BRITAIN ANXIOUS FOR SWEDE PACT

Cecil Replies to Recent Statement of Hammarskjold.

SAYS BLACKLIST IS REGULAR

England's War Trade Minister Declares for Renewal of Trade Agreement and Friendly Relations—Asks No Favors From Neutrals.

London, Oct. 7.—"We are anxious to restore to its old footing the ancient friendship and commercial intercourse between the two countries," Lord Robert Cecil, minister of war trade, declared in an interview in which he replied to the recent statement of Premier Hammarskjold of Sweden.

To the assertion of the Swedish premier that Great Britain is arbitrarily limiting the imports into Sweden, Lord Roberts said that Great Britain always has been and now is ready to enter into fresh negotiations for a trade agreement with Sweden, in which case allowances would be made for all of Sweden's requirements, which, he admitted, are greater now than before the war, owing to the development of her industries.

Violates No Rule.

The minister of war trade declared incidentally that the British blacklist violates no rule or law of equity. After saying that he was glad to read the premier's statement that Sweden's actions had been dictated solely by that kingdom's own necessities and future welfare, and not for any partisan reasons, Lord Robert said:

"We ask no favors from neutrals. But we do ask that they should not hinder our belligerent rights in the life or death struggle which we and our allies are waging. 'The prime minister says that he is in harmony with the American protest against the blacklist, but I observe with some surprise that he makes no allusion to his attitude concerning the American protest against German submarine atrocities, surely a far graver matter for neutrals.'"

RUSSIAN PLAN STIRS INTEREST IN CAPITAL

Washington, Oct. 7.—Much interest was aroused here by the announcement from an authentic source that Russia plans to send 1,000,000 Russian Poles to form colonies in various South American countries.

Several months ago a Russian commission en route to South America came to Washington for letters of introduction. It presented letters from Hudson Maxim and Senator O'Gorman. It received letters to South American personages from John Barrett, director of the pan-American union.

On arriving in South America the commission split into three groups. One, composed of Joseph Dalinda, publisher of a financial paper in Petrograd, and Marc Bounimovitch, a Petrograd banker, went to the capital of Venezuela, where they are conducting the negotiations.

It developed the chief object of their visit is to obtain the sanction of the Venezuelan government to sending over Russian Poles to be settled on agricultural and grazing lands.

BARS LUGGAGE SALES TO CHECK POLIO.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—Luggage sales are to be barred in Evanston, a suburb of Chicago, as a step in the prevention of infantile paralysis. Dr. C. T. Roome, health commissioner, has issued a ruling to that effect.

CHEERFUL WOMEN

Despondency is a thing of evil origin and evil results. Worry produces nothing but wrinkles and wretchedness. Let the reader put up a little note on her bureau, on her desk, and at the head of her bed, just two words, "Don't worry." Worry is the greatest foe to the happiness of any household.
